PRINCE PHILIP . . . coming back.

PHILIP TO VISIT VICTORIA AGAIN

Queen's Husband Hoping to Explore B.C.; See Kitimat, Uranium Mines in Northland

Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, who so captivated Victorians during the Royal tour of 1951, is coming back to Victoria.

Buckingham Palace announced this city will be visited by the Queen's husband when he comes out to open the British Empire games in Vancouver next August.

Mayor Claude Harrison said today the city will welcome the Duke of Edinburgh with fitting ceremony "and with the warmest pleasure" when he returns here.

The Buckingham Palace announcement said that "the first gentleman of the United Kingdom" will go to Victoria, Vancouver and Kitimat. He has expressed a desire to see something of the immense aluminum industry's development in B.C.

"When Prince Philip and Her Majesty were here before, "Mayor Harrison said, "they endeared themselves to our people as few great personages of the world have done in the past, royalty or otherwise."

TENDER MEMORIES

"I can imagine Prince Philip and his Queen have a tender feeling for this island where they spent a brief time of leisure at the western-most end of their transcontinental tour," he said.

Details of Prince Philip's itinerary are expected within a few days. His secretary, Lt.-Cmdr. Michael Parker, RN, is in Canada making the arrangements. The two naval officers are firm friends and Cmdr. Parker was with the royal party on the previous Canadian visit.

It is expected Cdr. Parker will be one of the Duke's party here next summer. Squadron Leader Peter Horsley, RAF, may be another.

London papers say the Duke may fly to Canada and take a plane into the far north areas which he has yet to visit.

NEW STYLE TOURS

The Canadian visit is regarded in London as the first of a series of "new style" royal tours by which the Royal Family will take advantage of air travel to see more of the Commonwealth than was possible in the past because of the time involved.

B.C. Holiday Accidents Kill Seven

Seven persons were known to have met violent death in British Columbia during the holiday week-end.

Herbert Klint, 26, Toronto steel worker, was killed instantly late Sunday when he fell 125 feet from a giant tower on the Kitimat transmission line.

Joseph Shearer, 27, 1140 Pender St., Vancouver, died in General Hospital from injuries received when his car crashed into a stanchion of Vancouver's new Granville Street bridge.

David Portingell, 13, Quesnel, was killed when a truck driven by a Vancouver man struck him as he was hurrying to get off a narrow bridge near the northern interior town.

MAN GASSED

Thomas McDermott died in a Vancouver rooming house from accidental gas poisoning when his coffee pot boiled over and extinguished the burner.

An unidentified man was believed to have drowned in Harrison Bay.

Donald C. Ferguson was fatally injured when struck by a CPR train near Kamloops Friday night.

David Charles Robson, 17, died of gunshot wounds in a hunting accident near Parksville. (See story, page 17.)

Killed by Tree Limb

CHILLIWACK (BUP)—Maynard Elston Coulter, 49, principal of the Rosedale School here, died Monday when struck by a limb from a tree he was trimming.

Gun-Whipping Gang at Large, Merchants Told

Don't Stay Alone, Police Warning

A warning to city merchants not to remain alone in their shops during early-darkening evenings was issued today by Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer.

The advice was coupled with the news that two dangerous armed bandits are still at large, following a brutal armed robbery of Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Prior Street, Saturday night, when manager Ed Hallier was pistol-whipped.

He was left, bound and semi-conscious, in a pool of his own blood, while the thieves escaped with $1,050, shortly after 6.30 p.m.

MASKED

Masked with bandana handkerchiefs, wearing gloves and dark clothing, the pair disappeared into the night.

"If either one were stood before me today, I couldn't identify him," said the still-shaken victim. ". . . I think they were about 20."

Careful planning and a coincidence aided in the success of the robbery, he added.

"Usually, the bookkeeper, R. H. Lott, leaves with me. But on Saturday he went out the door just as the telephone rang and I was delayed. He told me later that he had noticed someone entering the alley from an adjoining property, but had placed no importance on it at the time.

GUN IN RIBS

"They knew I would leave by the alley entrance and as I opened the door one of them jabbed a gun in my ribs," he stated.

Struggling with his assailant, Mr. Hallier managed to gain possession of the weapon, which he identified as a toy. The second thug began to bludgeon Mr. Hallier over the head but he was able to throw the toy gun over a fence.

It has not been found.

The thugs wrestled the manager back into the office.

Mr. Hallier at first refused the demand that he open the safe.

"I was hollering, hoping they would think one of the boys was upstairs, but this punk kept beating me over the head with his pistol . . . a real pistol," he said.

MISSED COMBINATION

"Even when I said I would open the safe, they still hit me. They thought I was stalling when I missed the combination the first time," he recalled.

In possession of the day's receipts, the robbers bound Mr. Hallier's hands with electrician's tape, but, either in their haste or because they thought their victim weaker than he was, they did not gag him or tie his feet.

He was able to remove the tape after 10 minutes' struggling and tell the telephone operator to call police.

The intruders made a clean getaway. The dark alley behind the bakery is T-shaped and each branch afforded an easy escape route to a probable waiting car.

The hold-up was the second in the bakery this year. In February safecrackers made an unsuccessful attempt. They were foiled when an employee entered to turn on ovens, and they fled empty-handed after hanging canvas drapes over the windows.

Police all over the Island have been alerted. Deputy-chief Mercer says: "They may strike again."

"Storekeepers should take extra precautions during winter and fall evenings if still in their business premises after dark. Two men should stay," he added.

Guiana Capital Tense As Arson Plots Feared

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UP)—Anti-British laborers were reported buying large quantities of kerosene today and officials feared they may set fire to this colonial capital's wooden structures in protest against ouster of the pro-Red government.

British troops and security police cordoned off sections of the tense city to search for evidence of Communist activity and arson plots by supporters of ousted pro-Communist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and his American-born wife.

Jagan has called for a general strike in this sugar and rum producing South American British colony in protest against the arrival of British troops. (See "violence," page 2.)

Tito May Ask France To Mediate in Trieste

Yugoslavs Call Envoy As Rioting Continues

BELGRADE (AP)—French Ambassador Philippe Boudet was called into conference today with Yugoslavia's deputy foreign secretary as speculation arose that France might be asked to serve as an intermediary to prevent the feud between Yugoslavia and Italy over Trieste from developing into bloodshed.

They met for more than an hour. There was no immediate official disclosure of the nature of their talks, but the official Belgrade radio reported it "understood" they dealt with Trieste.

BELGRADE (AP)—A tense and angry Yugoslavia today awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy. Washington, at least so far, showed no signs of backing down from the British-American decision to pull out of Zone A of the strategic territory.

The Russians put in their oar Monday night, on the heels of Tito's bid for direct talks with the Western powers over the explosive issue and his complaint to the United Nations that the Anglo-American plans are a threat to peace.

In identical notes to Britain and the U.S., the Kremlin called the plan to give Italy the Allied-occupied zone, including the Adriatic port city of Trieste, a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty.

The predominantly-Italian population of Zone A was obviously worried, however, over Tito's threat Sunday to send his own troops into the zone if Italian troops replace the 7,000 British and American soldiers. Observers on all sides agreed such a move could touch off a world war.

Mobs Wreck British Reading Rooms

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Yugoslav demonstrators besieged the United States and British information centres for three hours today and wrecked the British reading room after breaking into it through locked doors.

British authorities protested strongly to the foreign office and demanded police protection.

Earlier in the day, mobs chased an American student into the United States information service office and beat up Yugoslavs who tried to get copies of the daily American news bulletins.

Tempers were growing hotter in the crowds that surged through the streets for the sixth straight day protesting against the Anglo-American decision to turn over the northern part of Trieste to Italy.

London Meeting for Big Three

LONDON (Reuters)—The foreign office announced today that Britain has invited U.S. State Secretary Dulles and Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, to meet Foreign Secretary Eden in London this week-end.

The statement said Dulles and Bidault had accepted the invitation and will meet Eden here for a conference Friday and Saturday.

The announcement came as a surprise in diplomatic circles where no hint had been heard that such a meeting was planned in the immediate future.

The foreign office announcement said:

"This meeting is in keeping with the practice of the three ministers to consult together at frequent intervals in one of the three capitals.

Russia Demands Full UN Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Russia set the stage today for a full United Nations debate on the ominous Trieste dispute by demanding a prompt Security Council meeting to name a governor for the area.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a letter to Council President William Borberg of Denmark, introduced a formal resolution which proposed that the council name Col. Hermann Flueckiger, former Swiss minister to Moscow, as governor of the free territory of Trieste in accord with Italian Peace Treaty provisions that the area be internationalized and charged that the Anglo-American decision to hand over Zone A to Italy "is having the effect of increasing friction in relations between states, and primarily between the countries bordering on the territory of Trieste, and is creating a threat to peace and security in this region of Europe."

OUTSTANDING NATIVE DAUGHTER

Political Friends, Foes Mourn Passing of Mrs. Tilly Rolston

Tributes from her political friends and foes alike today were paid to Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston who died of cancer Monday night in Vancouver after a lingering illness.

They mourned the loss of a woman whom they described as a staunch campaigner, a great fighter, and an outstanding native daughter whose place in the province's history is assured.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett was visibly shocked by the death of Mrs. Rolston. They had been campaign partners and had fought the province's political battles side by side.

The two of them are credited with personally leading the Social Credit party to victory in 1952 in one of the most stunning political upsets in the province's history.

Plans are being made to recess the Legislature on the day of Mrs. Rolston's funeral. The date hasn't been set yet.

If the funeral is in the morning or afternoon, it is expected the House will sit only at night. This will allow government representatives time to attend the funeral and return to the capital at night.

Prorogation is expected Friday, and the government will call three sittings a day towards the end of the week in order to finish up a considerable amount of work still before the legislators.

Premier Bennett said Mrs. Rolston's passing would be a great loss to the government.

He pointed out she was the first fully fledged woman cabinet minister in Canada.

HON. TILLY ROLSTON . . . died Monday.

"She was an outstanding native daughter of our province. Her life has been one of service.

"After she had raised her own family she gave unsparingly of her time and energy to advancing in public all that was best for protection of home and family life.

"Mrs. Rolston has been very ill for over a year and the way she has carried on has been a great inspiration to all," said Premier Bennett.

CCF leader Arnold Webster said:

"B.C. will long remember the ready smile and friendly greeting of Mrs. Rolston. She was a vital part of the community.

"Her enthusiasm for life and her spirited advocacy of causes in which she believed affected all with whom she worked.

"To have occupied the very responsible position of minister of education was a well-earned tribute to one who has spent so many years in active public service.

"The sympathy of everyone is extended to her many friends and, especially, to the members of her family."

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said Mrs. Rolston made a great contribution to the city of Vancouver and the province as a whole.

"Her passing removes a great trooper from the B.C. political scene. She had great courage and was in there scrapping until the end.

Dr. Larry Giovando, lone Progressive Conservative member of the House, said:

"Mrs. Rolston was a great campaigner and had the courage of her convictions. She did much for the housewife, and made a great contribution to women's realm."

News of the passing of Mrs. Rolston brought tribute today from Mrs. Nancy Hodges, who shared with her since 1941 the responsibility of representing the women of the province in the Legislature.

"I deeply regret her passing and know the province has suffered a tremendous loss.

"She brought an enthusiasm and zest to the affairs of the house which brightened the debates and made an important contribution to the parliamentary life of this province.

"I extend warmest sympathy to her family, knowing full well the great depth of her feeling for her home and loved ones."

Couple Laid Murder Plans Before Kidnapping Carried Out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Carl Austin Hall, a sullen drug addict, and his unkempt woman friend have confessed they prepared to kill Bobby Greenlease before they kidnapped the six-year-old child.

Hall admitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation he killed the boy by firing a pistol bullet into the right side of his head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas State line from Kansas City a short time after Bobby's kidnapping.

Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, confessed she was with Hall when he killed the boy, son of multi-millionaire parents who paid a record $600,000 in ransom.

With the couple's signed confessions that the child was taken across a state line, the government immediately filed charges at Kansas City under the Lindbergh kidnapping law.

DEATH PENALTY

The Lindbergh law, which stemmed from the kidnap-slaying of the famous aviator's son 21 years ago, carries a possible death penalty when the kidnap victim is harmed.

The FBI said Hall and Mrs. Heady confessed they dug the grave before they put their kidnap plot into execution.

Confronted with a mounting pile of unanswerable evidence, Hall and his divorcee companion made their new confessions to Joseph E. Thornton, agent in charge of the FBI here, and agents working under him.

Bobby apparently was put to death in the station wagon of Mrs. Heady after the couple had driven him to a point about 1½ miles from U.S. Highway 69 in Kansas 12 miles outside Kansas City, Mo.

The confessions Monday cleared Thomas John Marsh, 37, tattoed ex-convict named earlier by Hall as the actual killer of Bobby, of any part in the crime.

WIPES OUT CLAIMS

The admissions also wiped out the woman's earlier claim she was merely an innocent pawn in the case when she led the unsuspecting child from an exclusive Catholic school Sept. 28 on the pretext she was his aunt. She insisted she thought the boy was Hall's son, in custody of an ex-wife.

The confessed kidnap-killers of Bobby Greenlease were returned early today under heavy guard to Kansas City, where the abduction of the six-year-old boy took place just 15 days ago.

The pair's departure from St. Louis was kept secret. They were brought here by automobile, both manacled.

Violence Grows In Guiana Sugar Strike

Cane Field Burned, Overseer Attacked

GEORGETOWN (AP) — A general strike, called by leftist government ministers kicked out by London as pro-Moscow plotters, spread slowly Monday through this Crown colony's basic sugar industry.

Three minor incidents of violence were reported, including the stoning of the house of a cane worker who refused to strike, the burning of 13 acres of sugar cane, and an attempted attack by angry workers on a plantation overseer.

The walkout paralyzed two of the colony's 14 sugar factories and threatened to close down more mills today since about 40 per cent of the cane workers have already quit work.

The strike was part of an anti-British campaign of boycott, non-co-operation and non-fraternization launched Sunday by ousted ministers belonging to the leftist People's Progressive party.

RETALIATORY MEASURES

The campaign was in retaliation for British action last week suspending the colony's new constitution and removing leftist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and five of his ministers on the charge they planned to turn British Gliana into a Communist state allied with Moscow.

London held its hand until 600 British troops and three warships arrived in Georgetown to back up colonial governor Sir Alfred Savage.

Since Monday was the Pan-American day holiday, full effect of the strike could not be judged immediately.

CHASED OVERSEER

After the burning of the field of sugar cane, an angry crowd of workers attempted to attack an overseer, who escaped on horseback. Cane cutting was resumed in the area, however, after the flareup.

Police Sunday seized a batch of strike-call pamphlets in an apparent attempt to prevent their circulation, but word of the strike was getting around by the grapevine.

Funeral Rites Today For Rev. S. Osterhout

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Funeral services were to be held today for the Rev. S. Stanley Osterhout, pioneer of the United Church in British Columbia, who died Friday at the age of 86.

Last rights will be held at the Canadian Memorial Chapel which he helped to build.

Dr. Osterhout, born on an Ontario farm, came to British Columbia in 1893. His first post was at the Naas River where he worked among the Indians and prospectors. He later was posted at Port Simpson and served until 1903 when he went to Kamloops and then to Vernon.

He is survived by two sons and daughters.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams, about 50, of 705 Pandora, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by city police Monday night to be treated for a possible fractured shoulder and head lacerations suffered in a fall. Police said Mrs. Williams fell down a flight of stairs in the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion. Her Condition in hospital is reported as good.

Courage Highlighted Mrs. Rolston's Career

Illness and Frequent Political Set-Backs Brought No Admission of Defeat From Tilly

Mrs. Tilly Jean Rolston, 66, died Monday night.

The first Canadian woman to hold full cabinet rank, Mrs. Rolston was Minister of Education in B.C.'s first Social Credit government.

Although defeated at the last general election in her Vancouver-Point Grey constituency which she had represented for 12 years, Mrs. Rolston retained her portfolio. She was never one to surrender.

Since 1951, when she underwent a major operation, Mrs. Rolston had been aware that her state of health was precarious. She knew the cause — cancer. But she remained active in the political arena, fighting furious campaigns and maintaining her reputation for debate in the Legislature. It was in that year she crossed the floor of the House, breaking away from Coalition, but not relinquishing her Progressive Conservative affiliation. That came later.

On Sept. 26 Mrs. Rolston submitted to surgery for the third time. Although she appeared to have rallied, she was in a state of near coma four days later.

PREMIER PERTURBED

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, a close friend, called newspapermen into his office Sept. 29 to reveal that his minister of education was in "a very serious condition."

Her family went to her bedside.

But Mrs. Rolston rallied again.

Mrs. Rolston was born in Vancouver in 1887. Her parents, too, were Canadian-born, of Old Country stock. She married Frederick James Rolston, son of a Vancouver pioneer, in 1909. They had three children: Robert, Audrey (now Mrs. Eric L. Hartley), and Ethel (now Mrs. Norman E. Foster). There are eight grandchildren.

Her husband died before Mrs. Rolston entered politics in the general election of 1941 and won the traditionally Conservative Vancouver-Point Grey seat which she held until last June.

She was re-elected at the general elections of 1945, 1949 and, after she had crossed the floor and helped break the B.C. Coalition, in 1952 as a Social Credit party member.

QUIT COALITION

She quit the Coalition in the hectic session of 1951 when Premier Bennett, then a private Coalition member, went over to opposition.

With Premier Bennett she showed the shape of things to come when she fought the Esquimalt by-election in 1951 in support of Reeve A. C. Wurtele's independent candidacy. The Coalition choice, Percy George, former mayor of Victoria, was defeated; but a CCF dark horse, F. J. Mitchell, took the seat.

Soon afterwards, both Premier Bennett and Mrs. Rolston declared themselves as Social Crediters.

Each fought and won a constituency in the 1952 election, Point Grey giving Mrs. Rolston her biggest majority. But in the 1953 campaign Mrs. Rolston was defeated.

Meanwhile, she had undergone a second serious operation.

INDEFATIGIBLE

But in spite of her failing health, Mrs. Rolston never for a moment relaxed her grip on provincial affairs. Always keenly interested in the problems of education, she traveled widely in the post-war years: To Europe, the Antipodes, and the Far East. And she traveled the highways and by-ways of B.C. in quest of first-hand knowledge of education problems. She was fitting herself for office when the call should come.

In 1952 she became Canada's first woman to hold full cabinet rank as education minister.

Known as a champion of women's rights, she knew the housewife's problems, too. She fought successfully for the manufacture of colored margarine. She demanded the abolition of milk controls. But she was best known for the education costs formula, introduced by the Social Credit government, which bears her name.

The Rolston Formula called for a complete and radical change in the system of payment of school costs in municipal areas. It was a highly controversial matter and on its introduction to the first 1953 Legislature, the government of Premier Bennett went down to defeat on its attempt at partial implementation.

RETAINED PORTFOLIO

Although defeated in the last general election, Mrs. Rolston retained her education portfolio and could still claim to be the first Canadian woman with full cabinet status. Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith was a minister in the John Oliver administration in 1921, but without portfolio.

Mrs. Rolston was understandably proud of her achievement.

In 1936 she sought and won a seat on the Vancouver Parks Board and while chairman of that body introduced to Vancouver the Theatre Under the Stars. She was the theatre's first chairman.

She has been president of the Women's Canadian Club in Vancouver and of the Provincial Council of Women.

MAN-WITHOUT-A-COUNTRY GETS HOME IN DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Michael Patrick O'Brien, the modern-day man without a country, got permission Monday to live in the Dominican Republic.

O'Brien, 58, has been trying for more than two years to find haven ashore. He was a waterfront bartender before he escaped from Communist China. His name broke into the news when he rode a ferry for 10 months between Hong Kong and Portuguese Macau because neither place would accept him.

O'Brien's white Russian wife and child were last reported in Brazil. He arrived there in August but Brazilian authorities refused to permit him entry.

O'Brien's claim to United States citizenship has never been recognized. His long stay aboard the Hong Kong ferry ended last July and British authorities put him on the plane for Rome.

Bodies of Pilot, Airwoman Retrieved From Plane Wreck

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—A helicopter flew over dangerous northern Ontario swamps Sunday night to bring the bodies of an air force pilot and his airwoman passenger from a wrecked RCAF Expediter.

The float-equipped helicopter was due to set down at the crash scene some time Sunday night to retrieve the bodies of FO J. L. Holten, 32, of Vancouver, and LAW Joan Mildred Moody, of Morris, Man., from the reed-choked waters of an unnamed lake near here.

The Expediter was sighted by RCAF planes Saturday, about 18 hours after the aircraft disappeared on a flight from Ottawa to North Bay.

A para-rescue team, dropped near the scene in Algonquin provincial park, and a ground party beat their way through dense bush about 30 miles southeast of here Saturday. They were stopped by impenetrable swamp less than 100 yards from the wreck but were near enough to identify it as the Expediter.

They called for the helicopter after muck and water prevented them from covering the last few yards. The Expediter, a twin-engined plane used for navigational training and general liaison, was half submerged.

Holten was an RAF veteran who taught school in Vancouver before enlisting in the RCAF. LAW Moody, the daughter of J. L. Moody, of Morris, was a radar technician at Summerside, P.E.I., and was on her way home for the Thanksgiving week-end.

An appeal against an assessment of the federal tax board of several thousand dollars imposed on the property of J. H. Wilson, owner of W. J. Wilson store on Government Street, opened in Exchequer Court here today.

Mr. Justice J. C. Cameron of Ottawa, presided. Jack Ruttan and T. E. Jackson, of Ottawa, represented the Crown opposing the appeal.

WALKS TEARFULLY TO GALLOWS

Egypt Executes Sobbing Laborer; First of Condemned Traitors

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—A sobbing white-haired laborer died on the gallows at dawn today in the first treason execution ordered by Egypt's all-powerful Revolutionary Council.

Mahmud Sabry Aly, 57, walked tearfully to the gallows. He frequently begged for mercy as he was led through the gloomy pillared hallways of Cairo's governmental jail to the dingy execution room.

Two guards, one on each side, supported Sabry, a former laborer for British troops at the Suez Canal base, as he walked the "last mile." Eyewitnesses said Sabry could be heard reciting verses from the Koran in a terror-stricken voice.

He was convicted last month by a military tribunal of treason and "torturing Egyptian patriots." The tribunal's death sentence was approved by the omnipotent revolutionary council.

The indictment said Sabry had betrayed Egyptians conducting guerrilla warfare against the British in the Canal Zone.

SERIES OF CASES

Sabry's death sentence was the first to be carried out in the government's trial of persons accused of treason against President Mohammed Naguib's regime.

The military tribunal is hearing the series of cases against Egyptians accused of plotting against the government.

ENTIRELY NEW AND DIFFERENT COMBINATION
FOR THE RELIEF OF THE PAIN OF ARTHRITIS, RHEUMATISM

Laboratory work that started in 1949 has culminated in the combination of a new treatment for the relief of Arthritic and Rheumatic pain.

The importance given to this new product, made by Lantigen Laboratories Ltd., lies in the significant combination of two factors; a tested and proven analgesic for immediate pain relief, and an oral vaccine which works through the principle of immunization. The new combination is known to the public as "Lantigesic" and is taken in liquid form.

Combination Found

The problem faced by the researchers was to find or develop an analgesic not only compatible with the vaccine but also effective in relieving the particular type of pain caused by Arthritis and Rheumatism. It was then found that one of the most highly regarded and universally accepted analgesics — Sodium Salicylate — was efficacious and compatible with the oral vaccine. It has been combined with the vaccine in Lantigesic and tests have shown that it brings about fast, safe relief from pain.

Pasteur Principle

The function of an oral vaccine is to work toward helping the body fight off the disease itself. The general principle of vaccines has been proven and acknowledged since the days of Pasteur. Lantigesic contains the substances which help produce a new, or reinforce an already existing resistance to the organisms causing the disorder or complaint.

Long Term Problem

Following the statement from well known authorities, Lantigen Laboratories point out that Arthritis is a long term problem and must be treated as such. A three month treatment of Lantigesic is considered average. Early treatment and recognition is a definite advantage. It is strongly recommended that any person suspecting Arthritis or Rheumatism should be diagnosed by a doctor.

Now Available to Public

Lantigesic has now been made available to the public. It is sold through all good drug stores. In the event of any difficulty just write to Lantigen Laboratories Ltd., Saanichton, B.C.

Reds Submit New Proposals On UN Members

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Russia Monday came up with a new package plan under which she would support the admission of Italy and Finland to the United Nations if three Soviet satellites — Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria — also were admitted.

The surprise proposal was made by Soviet delegate Jacob Malik in the General Assembly's special political committee which is seeking to break the log jam on the admission of new members.

Until now, the Soviet block has backed a package deal to admit 14 new members—the five named Monday, plus the Mongolian People's Republic, Albania, Portugal, the Republic of Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon, Nepal and India. The Western powers want each case considered on its merits.

Atom Automobile Termed Nonsense

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UP) — The possibility of development of an atomic-powered automobile was described as "nonsense" by Dr. William K. Ergen of the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) National Laboratory.

Ergen, attending the annual meeting of the American Physical Society here, said cost of installing nuclear reactors — machines which generate atomic power—would be too high. Even if this were not so, dangerous radiation would require shields and there is no known way of building such shields, he added.

George Home Tells IWA Lawyers Are 'Interfering'

From BUP and CP Dispatches

VANCOUVER — George Home, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor, expressed alarm at the "increasing interference" by lawyers in the labor system today.

Home told the 17th annual international convention of the CIO-CCL International Woodworkers of America Monday night that the resolutions passed by the Canadian Bar Association at its recent conference in Quebec City were designed to protect employers.

"If these resolutions become law, strikes will be outlawed; union officers will be held responsible for the actions of their unions, and other anti-labor measures will be put into effect," he said.

Home urged a more intensive campaign of political action, designed "to increase B.C.'s present labor representation in Victoria and Ottawa."

More than 300 delegates from Canada and the United States attended the convention's opening session.

Delegates started work today on more than 140 resolutions.

A hot point is expected to be discussion of the appeal of Karley Larsen of Stanwood, Wash., against his dismissal last spring as first vice-president of the IWA.

Larsen was relieved of his job by the union's executive board after he admitted being a member of the Communist party until 1946.

Saturday, Larsen was acquitted by a federal court jury of conspiring against the government following a marathon 25-week trial. Five others were convicted.

On Friday, before Larsen's acquittal, president Hartung said Larsen's appeal was expected to be rejected by the convention delegates "without much debate."

Larsen did not appear at Monday's opening session and union officials refused to comment on the matter.

Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. Enters Canadian Field

LONDON (CP)—The vast Anglo-Iranian Oil Company today announced its entry into the Canadian oil field.

A wholly-owned subsidiary called D'Arcy Exploration Co., Ltd., will invest about $5,000,000 for 23 per cent of the Triad Oil Company Limited of Calgary. Triad is a Canadian company formed in 1951 with properties in Alberta, Saskatchewan and the Williston basin. Its production, mainly from the Alberta Redwater field, was 375,000 barrels for the year ending Nov. 3, 1952.

Terms of the deal, presumably arranged on a visit by Anglo-Iranian officials to Alberta this summer, include the subsidiary's right to purchase additional shares amounting to not less than 50 per cent of Triad shares.

To date it involves purchase by D'Arcy of 1,250,000 shares and $625,000 worth of 4½ per cent convertible notes. D'Arcy will purchase later in two equal instalments another 500,000 shares and $250,000 of notes.

Triad will continue to operate as before but with two extra directors nominated by D'Arcy and two or three additional technical staff men. Its current capital consists of $2,885,000 of 4½ per cent convertible debentures and more than 5,740,000 shares of no par value, quoted on the Calgary and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

The transactions has been approved by the British treasury and the necessary dollars freed.

KIDNAPPED BY GYPSIES

PARIS (Reuters) — Police searched today for beautiful 18-year-old Rose Dethiere, alleged to have been kidnapped by gypsies four days ago. Her father, Roger Dethiere, a carpet merchant, told police a ransom of $1,400 had been demanded Sunday night by two men who knocked at his door.

ST. LAURENT UNVEILS BUST OF LAURIER

MONTREAL (BUP) — A bronze and granite monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's first French-speaking prime minister, looked out across Dominion Square today as a reminder of a lifetime that saw "the most momentous events" unfold in the nation's history.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent unveiled the bronze statue Monday at a ceremony attended by Conservative Leader George Drew and other federal, provincial and civic officials.

"I doubt if any leader dominated his times more than Laurier did," Mr. St. Laurent told a crowd of some 1,000 who turned out for the Thanksgiving Day unveiling ceremony.

$100 a Plate 'Big Top' Party for Ike's Birthday

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — The "Chocolate Town" plays host tonight to President Eisenhower and an estimated 30,000 persons assembled to celebrate his 63rd birthday.

Described as "the biggest old-fashioned country birthday party in history," the lavish five-hour program will also serve to replenish Republican coffers for the 1954 congressional campaign, through a $100-a-plate dinner for about 6,400 contributors under the Ringling Brothers "Big Top."

Some Pay, Some Don't

IF THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNment knows what is good for it, and for British Columbia, it will listen to the present widespread protests against its administration of the hospital insurance scheme.

The anger of the public against the existing and inexcusable inequities is summed up by the Vernon Jubilee Hospital, which says that British Columbians are being divided "into two separate classes whereas the basis of democracy is that all should be equal under the law."

Today all the people are equal under the insurance law as framed by the legislature but not under the regulations enforced by the government. Every person whose name is on a business payroll must pay insurance premiums. They are taken off his pay cheque. But any person—however wealthy—who is not on a payroll need not pay.

For part of the population the scheme is compulsory. For part it is voluntary. As The Vernon News remarks, this discrimination is "absurd and fantastic, a travesty on ordinary justice." The Abbotsford Sumas and Matsqui News adds that "all the pontificating in the world will not conceal successfully the fact that the Government is trying to play both ends against the middle."

In the result, the Government's policy simply means that one group of citizens is carrying the cost of insurance for another group which refuses to pay its share. Though those who do not pay premiums are asked to pay hospital bills when they fall ill, many of them will not or cannot. The cost of their treatment thus is unloaded on the insurance scheme—that is to say, the premium payers.

"Why," asks The Vancouver Sun, "should the great majority maintain a first-class hospital service for the benefit of a bunch of zombies who are living in the community but are dead to their obligations?"

Apart from the question of ordinary justice and the enforcement of the law—which should be the determining factor — the Government must realize that in hospital insurance it is playing with political fire.

There can be no doubt that the Johnson Government was ruined in 1951 when, quite rightly as we believe, it raised insurance premiums to pay for unexpected costs. The agitation which swept British Columbia then should remind the present Government that the people are highly sensitive on this subject. Obviously they are growing restive again after realizing, for the first time, that the Government is discriminating in its enforcement, or non-enforcement, of the law.

Either the scheme should be wholly on a compulsory or on a voluntary basis, with exemption only for those demonstrably too poor to pay premiums. It is difficult to understand why the Legislature, which instituted a universal and compulsory scheme by legislation, fails to protest when the Government violates that law; or why the Government refuses to give the Legislature any real information on the actual finances of the insurance scheme.

The Theories and the Facts

THERE WAS MUCH COMMON sense and, happily, no Social Credit in the recent speech of Mr. Robert Sommers, Minister of Lands and Forests, to the Legislature.

In the first place, Mr. Sommers realizes, as the theorists of Social Credit do not, that the huge timber industry of British Columbia—like all our major Canadian industries—is largely dependent on markets outside this country. The lumber business, he says, "has always fluctuated due to the interplay of factors that govern supply and demand in the world markets."

This is true, but assuredly it is not Social Credit. For Social Credit, according to its national leader, Mr. Low, would practically eliminate foreign trade in Canada, except for products that this country cannot manufacture at any cost. And such a policy of protectionism and watertight national self-containment would quickly destroy our foreign markets.

Mr. Sommers seems to understand that and—contrary to the basic premise of Social Credit—he admits that "the demands of the Canadian and American markets do not appear to fully absorb the high rate of production that our forest industry has developed in the post-war period."

Social Credit, as preached by Mr. Low, is based on the theory that Canada alone can absorb all but a small part of our total production, provided enough money, issued by the state, is pumped into the stream of business. Mr. Sommers sees that even the Canadian and American markets combined at times cannot absorb all our B.C. lumber.

As he says, we must seek customers everywhere and we must sell at the going price which is beyond any government's control. To this end, he urges the lumber industry must keep its prices as low as possible and its efficiency high. As for the state, he says with commendable candor, it cannot subsidize the inefficient producer, as the Social Credit theory would subsidize him. Though there has been a drop in the market and the price for our lumber, Mr. Sommers says the forest industries have cut more timber this year than ever and, in the main, have been doing well up to now.

The question, of course, is how they will fare from now on in a changed and more competitive market. That question immediately involves the wisdom of the Government's new tax on lumber production (and on minerals). Mr. Sommers does not think the tax amounts to much and cannot in itself be a serious deterrent to production. This remains to be seen.

As industry begins to operate on a narrowed margin of profit, after an unprecedented boom, every dollar in the cost of a thousand feet of lumber will count. If other factors, mainly wages, make up most of the cost of lumber production, this is surely a doubtful time for tax increases, which the Government may regret within a year.

Price of Public Service

THE RECENT DEATH OF MR. Gordon Graydon, chief foreign affairs spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party and highly respected member of the House of Commons, draws pointed attention once again to the material rewards of public service.

For the last 18 years, the man who played so vital a part in keeping Canadian foreign policy discussion above political party levels had served Canada well.

Had he devoted that time to private business, expending on it the same energy he devoted to his parliamentary duties, he would have died an infinitely wealthier man. It is true that he received some recompense in the affections of fellow parliamentarians and the public alike. But his case draws attention once again to the fact that service of the type he rendered is financially unrewarding.

It is not suggested here that salaries for parliamentarians be so high that they make the House of Commons or provincial Legislatures the exclusive preserves of career politicians. It is suggested, on the other hand, that thought be given to indemnities to protect good and honest men from the losses so many suffer when they neglect private business to help in the vital affairs of the country.

A Prod for the 'Turtle'

IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE continent courts are taking drastic action against speeders. They recognize this class of motorists as a serious menace to life and act accordingly. Heavy fines and jail sentences have been effective in reducing such traffic hazards in several localities.

Commenting on the matter recently, Judge Eugene Lafontaine of Montreal noted the effectiveness of the stricter sanctions, including license suspension. "It is my duty," he said, "to protect society and speeding motorists are a menace. If only jail terms will discourage them, then jail it will have to be."

Similar opinion has been expressed in British Columbia, but the authorities in this province have gone a step further. They recognize that while the speeder may be the more serious hazard on the road, the turtle-driver—the person who operates his car at a snail's pace—is also a menace.

That is so because such drivers virtually become road blocks. They impede traffic going at reasonable speeds, cause long lines of cars to form behind them and create high accident potentials for anyone who swings out to continue travel at a normal rate.

Under the new bill amending the Motor Vehicles Act, the slow driver will receive police attention. The provision is excellent. High speed, of course, creates the more serious danger, but the opposite extreme poses a hazard with which the authorities will deal in future.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Our Distinguished Citizens

AN excellent local publication called "Who's Who in British Columbia" contains a vast amount of information about important people and many of no importance, but it is, of course, the wrong information. I do not doubt its accuracy for a moment. I say merely that, like every Who's Who in the world, it tells us nothing we want to know.

Hutchison

This is not the fault of the editors but of the people who supply the insignificant facts about themselves. An editor compiling such an encyclopedia takes the facts provided by the prominent citizen or, more likely, by his secretary, who, if she is a competent secretary, makes sure that the real facts are supressed.

THUS we have an endless parade of biographies noting that Joseph Doakes was born, as most men are, that he was educated, as few men are, that he formed the Ajax Pump Corporation, was once President of a Board of Trade and makes a hobby of fishing (nearly every character in the book being an ardent fisherman, enough of them to fill the entire Gulf of Georgia solid.)

As a result of these highly respectable and discreet arrangements, Who's Who has omitted some important British Columbia biographies which I shall herewith supply free of charge:

HALIBUT, Jerome Percival: Distinguished leader in business, public service and the arts. Founder of the Universal Popcorn Corporation of which he was president until the directors appointed him chairman of the board, on a small retiring allowance, to save the company from bankruptcy. His large investments include an expensive lady in Bellingham. A member of the Arctic Club, Vancouver, and subscribed to The Seattle Post-Intelligencer and various racing publications. Hobbies, fishing and blondes.

WENKS, Dudley: Notable figure in federal, provincial and municipal politics. Failed by 150 votes to secure the Conservative Party's nomination for Parliament in Matsqui, 1921, and became life-long Liberal. Was defeated for provincial Legislature in Burnaby, as CCF candidate, 1933, by narrow margin of 11,467 votes. Ran for School Board of Penticton, 1949, as Social Crediter but failed of election by technicality and necessary ballots. Hobbies, fishing and poker.

BRIBBLE, Joseph Montagu: Canadian man of letters. Has written more of them to newspapers than editors like to think about. Also many books and magazine articles, advocating atheism, all unpublished. Hobbies, fishing and the destruction of religion.

PIPPLE, Lancelot Mortimer: Distinguished industrialist, amorist and pincher, who earned the affectionate nickname of "Worm" among stenographers of The Vortex Paperweight Corporation, from which he retired after an auditor's inspection for prolonged period of meditation in suburb of New Westminster. Present address, care of the department of justice. Hobbies, fishing and hard labor.

FOXGLOVE, Amelia Jaqueline: A distinguished poetess, born Minnie Gropple. A spinster and authoress of innumerable poems on Passion, one of which was published by mistake in The Cowichan Leader, 1937. Circulated privately among her friends, which are few, her poems have caused much comment, of which the considered verdict of Professor Ira Dilworth is typical. He called them "incredible." Hobbies, fishing and waiting in the outer offices of editors, who are always out.

VELVETBELLY, Geoffrey Roscoe: Distinguished mining engineer and promoter, famous in Kootenay mineral districts, where he will never be seen again. Promoter of the Precious Jewel, a silver mine which lacked nothing but ore, and in which numerous investors lost their shirts. Retired on old-age pension and wife's brother. Hobbies, fishing, poker and pool. President, emeritus, Old Graduates' Association, Oakalla.

OMLET, Senator Hiram Oscar: Distinguished Canadian statesman, lifelong advocate of political reform and collector of campaign funds, for which services appointed to Senate, 1917, of which enthusiastic member of committee on divorce. Married Flounder, Elizabeth Garfinkle, of whom he is terrified, and immediately retired from active life. She permits him an allowance of $5 a week for cigarettes and whisky but it is in heavy arrears. Hobbies, fishing and sleep. Address, care of wife, or Joe's Place, Hull, Quebec.

Arrangement for Security

BY WALTER LIPPMANN From Washington

NO doubt because he has been much too busy with other things, Sen. Knowland has misunderstood the problem of the so-called security guarantee for the Soviet Union. In his news conference a few days ago he was under the impression that the idea is to offer the Soviet Union a guarantee that she may remain undisturbed and secure in the middle of Germany and of Europe. This, said the Senator, would be another Munich. And so it would be. But is that the idea? In view of the fact that the idea was launched by Churchill, that it has been endorsed by Adenauer, Bidault and Dules, it cannot mean what the Senator thinks it means.

Lippman

The statesmen who are working on the proposed guarantee were not born yesterday. Does Sen. Knowland suppose that Adenauer, for example, is urging the allies to give the Russians a guarantee that they may remain in possession of Eastern Germany? Or that Dulles is thinking of signing a treaty to legalize forever the Soviet military occupation of Eastern Europe? Or that Churchill—of all men Churchill—is trying to contrive another Munich at the climax of his career?

EXACT OPPOSITE

The truth of the matter is just about the exact opposite of what Sen. Knowland supposes. The purpose of a security guarantee is not to insure the Soviet occupation of half of Europe; it is to promote and facilitate a Soviet military withdrawal from Europe. The future of Europe and the peace of the world depend on whether an agreed withdrawal can be negotiated.

It may not be possible to do this. But the basic situation today is that the Red Army cannot stay in the centre of Germany for more than a few short years at the outside: if it stays too long, there will surely be a German national explosion in which all of the occupying powers will be involved.

On the other hand, it is very dangerous for the Soviets to withdraw their army. For such are the hatreds caused by the Stalinist oppression that in all likelihood the satellite governments would be overthrown by fanatically anti-Soviet uprisings as the Red Army withdrew.

This Soviet dilemma—that it is dangerous for them to stay and dangerous for them to leave—is the real problem of security. Soviet propaganda, naturally enough, never mentions it. But there can be little doubt that this is what the Russians are really worrying about when they say that the United States and NATO are conspiring to start a war.

They cannot seriously believe that Eisenhower is going to attack them. What they must really fear, and not without reason, is that a rearmed but dismembered Germany might move upon the East, raising the captive peoples of Poland, and the other satellites, engaging NATO and the United States in the crusade.

DANGEROUS DILEMMA

The idea of some kind of guarantee is addressed to this extremely dangerous dilemma in which the Soviet Union is caught.

There are, it seems, many people who are puzzled as to why we should worry about whether a great aggressive power is afraid. They should remember that fear is nearly always an element in aggression. Men, like animals, are never more dangerous than when they are frightened and cornered. The wise men of Europe and America do not wish to corner the Russians.

What would have to be guaranteed, assuming that the extremely difficult problem could be solved, is that the unification of Germany and the liberation of Eastern Europe will be achieved by negotiation and not by violence, and that the new Europe and the Soviet Union will both be secure. We are only at the very beginning of this business which may, however, unless things go to pieces, develop into a very great undertaking of epochal significance.

BEER AND SNOBBERY

I notice in your paper of even date another letter re liquor. Your correspondent says that in her home in England, her father kept a barrel of beer in the cellar and a bottle of whisky on the sideboard.

Well, there were many millions who did the same. All I can say is, my dear friends, you may kick and write letters until you are black in the face—it won't make the slightest bit of difference.

True enough, the majority voted for a change. Well, you've got it—not your way, but their way. Crazy, I admit, but there you are, you've got to put up with it; no good kicking.

I was much annoyed at a letter I read in one of your recent issues. Some woman stated that she left England owing to the snobbery there, came out here and found it worse—evidently out of the frying pan into the fire. Very sad case that. Personally, I never came across any snobbery in England, neither have I out here—in fact just the reverse.

TEETH IN THE LAW

The headlines in the Victoria Daily Times of October 7 bearing the news of the tragic kidnap-slaying of a six-year-old boy I am sure filled the hearts of thousands of readers with unutterable sadness. May justice be meted out to those who are responsible for such a brutal crime.

Now, sir, please turn to page 29, same paper, same date, and read with me "The government may establish a royal commission . . . to study the question of abolishing hanging and whipping." To those whose duty it is to make and amend our laws, I should imagine that it could leave little doubt in their minds as to what chaos would be ours if such a meeting approved the abolishing of capital punishment. What would their feelings be if a child of theirs was slain or criminally assaulted? Would not they demand that the supreme or fullest penalty be paid?

Hardened criminals or would-be criminals have little fear of a jail term, only the fear of the hangman's noose or the whip will keep the children of our present generation safe from those who would do them harm.

In the olden days it is said that for stealing a loaf of bread a man would pay with his life, but at the same time, I can imagine that there wasn't much bread stolen either!

After the crime has been committed, clemency will be asked, but what about the persons on whom the heavy hand of pain or death has been laid; will his cry for mercy go unheeded?

May the hands of those responsible be guided aright as they pen the words which, we hope, will guarantee the continuation of the present criminal law which still has a few "teeth" in it.

CHEESED-OFF

With reference to the write-up re the "Grand Olde Opry" show which appeared here Oct. 8, we were very much cheesed-off with Mr. Pete Loudon. It was very much in evidence that his mind was in the gutter during the entire show. After all, this is Canada and not England—or is it?

This same disgrace occurred when Tobacco Road appeared here. Is it a regular practice for your critics to try to dampen every event that comes? Mr. Loudon also refers to the stars as "drugstore Cowboys"—of all the ridiculous statements! Any person with any intelligence knows that they are the greatest in the business. This entertainment, we are assured, was not understood by Mr. Loudon.

We are sure he did not attend for pleasure—but only to criticize.

WHY NOT THE TRUTH?

Dr. Brock Chisholm is to be warmly congratulated when he tells parents that it is wrong to try to make our children believe in Santa Claus, except as a fairy tale or myth.

It is said that parents are too modest to wish to take credit for the Christmas presents Santa Claus is supposed to bring. I cannot see why they should be; they love their children, what could be more natural and fitting than to give the loved one suitable gifts, as indeed they do on birthdays and many other occasions.

For myself, as a rationalist, it seems far worse to tell a child of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden as a true story. If the child does believe fully in this wretched myth what idea of God will he get?

And what about the story of Noah's Ark or Jonah and the whale. The physical resurrection of Jesus, Mary his mother, Moses and several other biblical characters have been shown by science to be reasonably impossible.

Why should we not endeavor to teach our children the truth? And if we do not know the answers to the ultimate meaning of things, freely confess our ignorance. In that way we shall at least keep our children's respect.

"RATIONALIST."

Callous and Ungrateful

Edmonton Journal

A dispatch this week from Germany suggests that modern man is falling off badly, as compared with the ancients, in his treatment of his feathered friends.

About 2,400 years ago, according to tradition, Rome was saved from a barbarian horde by the cackling of a flock of geese. The barbarians were quietly scaling the walls while the sentinels slept.

The geese, however, were on the job and raised such a commotion that the citizens were roused in time and repulsed the invaders.

After this, the Romans considered nothing too good for the geese. They were declared sacred, and they and their descendants were maintained at public expense for centuries.

A melancholy contrast to this tale is provided by the behavior of the citizens of the German city of Freiburg, whose lives were saved in a somewhat similar fashion during the war. When Allied bombers approached the town on a sneak raid, a flock of ducks kept in a park raised such a quacking that the people were awakened and got to the shelters in time.

Nevertheless, when complaints were raised recently that the birds were too noisy, a court ordered most of them killed and the rest shut up in a duck house. Some of the callous and ungrateful townsfolk are even reported to have had the faithful sentinels for Sunday dinner.

This is a most un-Roman procedure. The Freiburgers have no one but themselves to blame if they are surprised by barbarians some dark night.

BALANCE AND WISDOM

Nothing is inherently or invincibly young except spirit. And spirit can enter a human being perhaps better in the quiet of old age and dwell there more undisturbed than in the turmoil of adventure . . . Old places and old persons in their turn, when spirit dwells in them, have an intrinsic vitality of which youth is incapable; precisely the balance and wisdom that comes from long perspective and broad foundations.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

City Vs. Country

TO anyone who can get about and use his eyes, the continued flight to the outskirts of cities must be apparent. Almost overnight districts that were once semi-rural are being turned into subdivisions. One day there is a young man with transit and chains, the next day the bulldozers move in, to be rapidly followed by a line of cars which disgorge carpenters, plumbers, plasterers and electricians, who fashion house after house more or less alike. And so suburbs are born.

Nancy

Two factors are contributing to this suburban growth. One, of course, is the rapid increase in our population, caused by natural increase, and the influx of people from other parts of Canada, lured here by clemency of climate and beauty of environment. The second factor is the redistribution of income that has occurred as a result of Canada's general prosperity.

SHIFT OF WORKERS

Artisans and other manual workers, who once could only rent rooms in towns or share quarters with relatives, now find themselves in a position to build their own homes, especially in outer urban areas where taxes are likely to be lower than in town. Then again, the car-owning class now includes every other working person, so that the transportation problem, which once kept many people within the city confines, no longer exists to the same extent.

But, as with many other symptoms of progress, this particular one is being viewed with some alarm by certain sections of the community. A professor of geography at UBC warned the Community Planning Association of Canada at its annual conference here the other day, that this creeping encroachment of cities upon British Columbia's limited agricultural areas is threatening our food supplies.

And he pointed to the rapid expansion of Greater Victoria to warn us that this continued turning of farmland into suburbs may so far deprive us of our logical source of food stuffs as to force us to look outside the province and, in consequence, pay more for it. In his view, zoning regulations will have to be extended to farmlands to remedy the threatened situation.

NEW YORK'S PROBLEM

In the light of the UBC professor's pronouncement, it is intriguing to learn what another expert, in a different field, has to say about the mushroom growth of cities. An eminent New York architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, recently predicted that decentralization is coming in and that more and more cities are going to the country. He pointed up his argument with the prophecy that, before 25 years, "grass will grow in New York streets where least expected now and flowers will bloom in the concrete . . ."

New York is, of course, an extreme instance of what can happen when a city grows haphazardly. But it sometimes takes an extreme example to bring home a lesson. And, coupled with the warning of the UBC professor, it suggests that Greater Victoria might do well to listen a little more carefully to its town planning advisers before allowing its tentacles to sprawl in too higgledy-piggledy a fashion all over the adjoining landscape.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Avoidable Hysterectomies

DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ's Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

In a recent number of the Reader's Digest my good friend, Mrs. Lois Maddox Miller, an excellent science writer who is always judicial and fair and sure of her facts, has a valuable article which I hope millions of women will read. She quotes a number of America's ablest gynecologists who are sure that a considerable number of the wombs removed every year would have been left untouched, or left untouched for a number of years, if the surgeon had only been a bit more conservative.

Dr. Alvarez

Most of the wombs were removed because the woman had some abdominal distress, or some difficulty with menstruation. The doctor hoped the operation would work a cure, but one could hardly have hoped for this when the abdominal ache was above the naval, or in the loin, or if it was a constant misery, or if it was no worse at the time of menstruation.

A common cause for the removal of a woman's womb is a so-called fibroid, or muscle tumor. These are like knobs on a potato, they are made of muscle like that of the rest of the uterus, and most of them are just as harmless and symptomless as is the womb from which they project. About one out of every three white women has a fibroid, and every other Negro woman has one. Obviously, one can hardly call so common a variation a disease, and in most cases a myoma or "fibroid" is not a disease; it is like a big wen on the back of one's neck, and will never cause any trouble. After the menopause it is likely to shrink down and almost disappear.

UTERAL SARCOMAS RARE

Occasionally a myoma will cause much bleeding, and then it may be well to remove it; a few also grow so rapidly or grow so big that they had better be removed. Only the very large ones are likely to produce pain, and thousands of the small ones never need to be operated on.

Why, then, should we of the medical profession remove so many of them? Because a while ago many of us got the idea that the little knobs might eventually become cancerous. We forgot that if a myoma or muscle tumor were ever to get cancerous it would have to become, not an ordinary cancer, but a sarcoma, and sarcomas of the uterus are so rare that I cannot remember ever having seen one in my 48 years of busy practice. Recently, I asked one of the chief pathologists at the Mayo Clinic when he had last seen one, and he could not remember. Obviously, the chance of getting a sarcoma based on a myoma is so small that no woman should worry about it.

In the past, many women have lost their ovaries because of a cyst or two in them, but fortunately today surgeons are learning that nearly all ovaries at times contain a cyst, and hence usually should not be touched. In the past many ovaries were removed which we know today could have been left in safely enough.

As many a fine, devoted surgeon now says, "When I examine a woman and find a myoma which is a bit large and might be producing some symptoms, I ask myself, 'Would I remove it if this were my wife or my daughter?' The answer to this question determines my behavior."

UNHAPPINESS AFTERMATH

Some surgeons feel that there can be no objection to the removal of a woman's uterus, especially after she has had all the children she wants, but I cannot agree because I have seen too many women who were left terribly unhappy by a hysterectomy.

As I said in a recent column, most women do not lose their sexual interest or charm after the loss of the womb, but some do lose sexual interest, and in some few cases the attitude of the husband changes. I get sad letters from women who, having always longed for a child, were made almost psychotic by the feeling that with the removal of their womb all hope was gone, and the door was slammed shut in their face.

Every month I get pathetic letters asking if a uterus could possibly be grafted into the pelvis. Often what has happened is that a woman who in her twenties had a hysterectomy, now in her thirties has married a nice man who wants a child.

Sometimes I think that if I ever have to face St. Peter and give him some reason why I think I should be admitted into heaven, I'll say that there are a number of women on earth, happy with children in their arms, because I once insisted that their myomatous uterus not be removed.

MORE ABUNDANT CORTISONE

Dr. Howard K. Nason of the Monsanto Chemical Company has now reported the discovery of a new and cheaper way of making cortisone, in which there are 17 steps instead of the old 37.

Naturally, it will be some time before the laboratory process can be developed into a big commercial one.

U.K. Prefers Canada Wheat to Soviet's; Price Is Barrier

WINNIPEG (BUP) — British wheat millers recently turned down an offer of Russian wheat because they couldn't be sure what they would get, according to D. W. Povey, representative of an English firm of flour mill engineers.

Povey said the millers, with apparent sufficient wheat supplies on hand to last them another month, objected to Russian wheat "on principle." He said their objections were justified, "because past experience had shown the wheat to be unreliable and you never knew what you're buying."

Povey is touring Canada representing his firm. He spoke at the Royal Alexandra Hotel here Monday.

He said the millers wanted to buy wheat from Canada, "but it was largely a question of price" which held them back.

Duke of Bedford Shot To Death in Woods

Multi-Millionaire Found With Gun at Side; Police Believe Accidental Shot Killed Him

TAVISTOCK, Eng. (AP) — The multi-millionaire Duke of Bedford was found shot to death Sunday in the woodlands of his 12,000-acre Devonshire estate.

The duke's gun was at his side and police believe an accidental shot killed him as he hunted for an old enemy—a hawk that pestered his prized lovebirds.

The 64-year-old pacifist, an outspoken opponent of the Second World War and often a figure in political controversy, disappeared Friday on his regular early-morning shoot. Since then more than 200 searchers combed the moors and woods around his 50-room house. Frogmen had hunted for him in the Tamar diver nearby.

A gamekeeper's hunch led to the body. Estate workers found the duke lying in undergrowth near a favorite beauty spot, his head blasted by a shell from a 12-gauge shotgun. Police said:

"The body lay as though the duke had fallen. We have nothing to indicate that this was anything but an accident."

ECCENTRIC ARISTOCRAT

The duke, tall, lean and seldom dressed in the current fashion, was in line with the English tradition of ecentric aristocrats.

His mother vanished in 1937 while flying over the North sea.

The duke conducted what amounted to a one-man political party. Practically everyone who ever has his address published in the London Times got by the next post a packet of pamphlets from the duke, outlining his views on armaments, taxation, international affairs and everything else that took his fancy.

The family fortune, once estimated at £5,000,000, came from huge estates in the English countryside and ground rents in the heart of London.

The duke married at 26 and leaves two sons and a daughter. The duchess lives with the daughter at Brede Park, Sussex, 200 miles from here.

The family titles — an earldom dating from the 16th century and the dukedom from the 17th—go to the duke's elder son, the 36-year-old Marquess of Tavistock. He becomes the 13th duke and is reported returning to Britain from his home in South Africa.

MONTREAL (CP) — A 44-year-old hunter from adjacent Verdun was resting comfortably in hospital Sunday, in "remarkably good" condition after living for six days in dense bush on leaves and bark from trees.

They hurried toward the sound and found Berube, in weakened condition, sitting in the snow. He was near Lake Boome, 15 miles from where he was llast seen near the town of St. Emile de Montcalm, 50 miles north of Montreal.

CPR Engineer, Fireman Die From Burns

OTTAWA (CP) — The engineer and fireman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Maniwaki-to-Ottawa passenger train, derailed Sunday night near Gracefield, Que., died of burns here late Monday, hospital officials reported.

Engineer Richard McNally, 57, of Ottawa, and fireman Clarence Learmonth, 37, of Smith's Fals, Ont., were scalded by steam when their locomotive jumped the tracks, turned on its side and plowed 100 feet into thick, swampy bush two miles northwest of Gracefield, 50 miles north of here.

The railway company immediately launched an investigation but cause of the crash has not yet been determined, a CPR spokesman said.

He said there were 35 passengers on the train as it headed south through the heavily-wooded Gatineau hills in the early darkness. It jumped the track on a curve.

Newsman Sees Discrimination In Laws Against Doukhobors

Discrimatory legislation aimed at the Doukhobors has been passed in Canada on at least two occasions, and the Canadian people, as represented by their governments, have not shown the forbearance and tolerance that has been claimed, Times news editor Lance Whittaker told a group of Christ Church Cathedral young people Sunday evening.

Mr. Whittaker cited the bill passed in the provincial house in 1919 disenfranchising the Doukhobors because of their opposition to war in 1914-1918.

"When we speak of giving the Doukhobors the vote at this session of the legislature," Mr. Whittaker said, "it would be well to remember that we are merely returning to them a privilege which was not taken from any other conscientious objector."

The speaker also told his audience that the recent three-year sentences given Sons of Freedom for nude parading were made possible only because the Criminal Code of Canada was amended in 1931 with specific reference to the Doukhobors.

"The decision to increase the penalty from one year to three years had no reference to the enormity of the crime, it was done simply to ensure that Doukhobors sentenced for nudity would become charges of the federal government rather than the provincial government. Such motivation for the amendment of our Criminal Code is against every standard of justice."

The speaker said, "It needs almost superhuman forbearance to handle these people, and, to date, we have not shown that we possess all the forbearance we need. Unfortunately, as so often happens, when our patience has reached the breaking-point we have done violence not only to the Doukhobors but to our own principles."

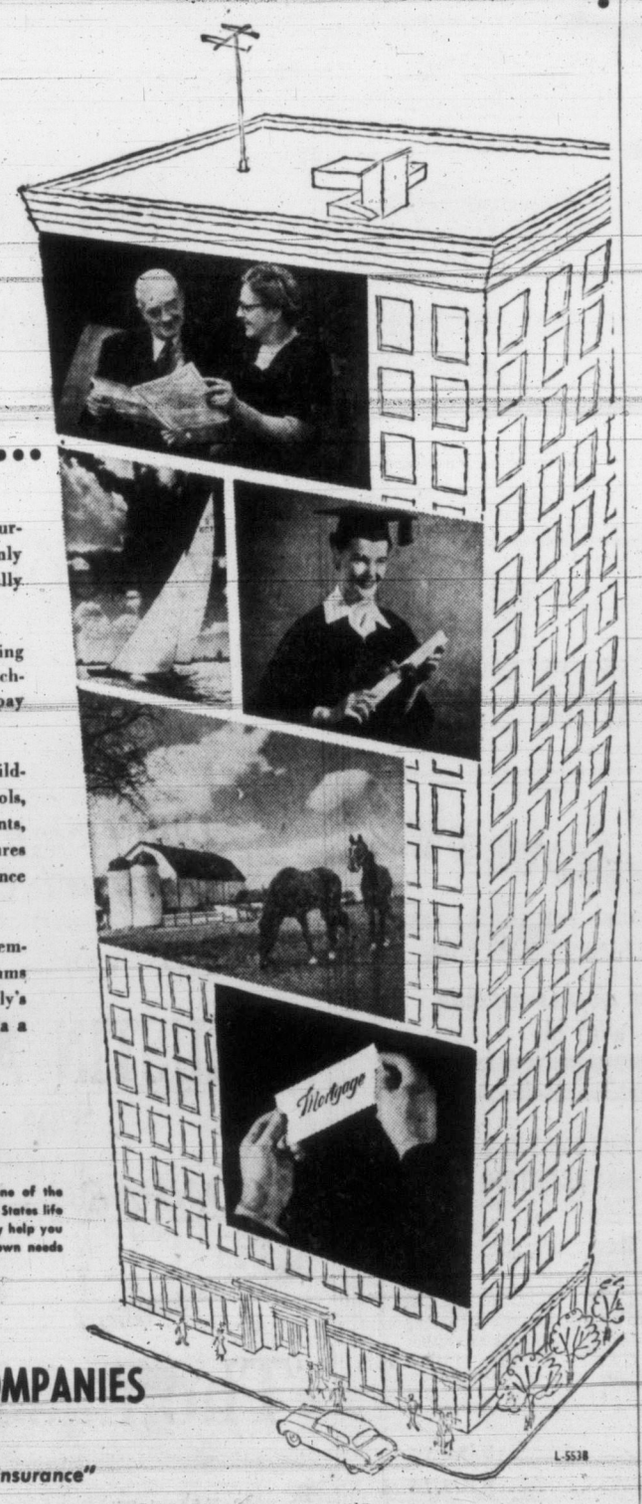
What many buildings are really made of...



When you look at any building in which life insurance dollars have been invested, you may see only bricks and mortar. But these buildings are really fashioned out of many different people's dreams.

What dreams? Perhaps a father's hope of sending his boy or girl to college some day. Or a school teacher's goal of a trip to Europe. Or someone's plan to pay off a mortgage, buy a farm, or retire at 65.

Out of such dreams many different kinds of buildings are constructed all over the nation. Schools, stores, office buildings, homes, hotels, power plants, factories — these are some of the useful structures created with the aid of money which life insurance companies invest for their policyholders.

So, if you are a life insurance policyholder, remember . . . while you're working to make your dreams come true . . . while you're providing for your family's security . . . you're also helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

AT YOUR SERVICE!

A trained life underwriter, representing one of the more than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies in Canada, will gladly help you plan for your family's security and your own needs in later years. Rely on him!

Trustees Ask Power To Fire Teachers

B.C.S.T.A. Convention Splits Sharply on Issue Of Dismissing Unsatisfactory Instructors

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Power to dismiss unsatisfactory teachers on 30-day notice will be sought by B.C. School Trustees' Association.

Splitting sharply on the issue, the 49th annual BCSTA convention here Monday voted 78-62 for action on this line to offset "difficulty in dismissing unsatisfactory teachers."

The vote came after L. Wood, president of the Okanagan branch, declared "there is no reason for school boards to continue to tolerate the gangster methods they employ in conjunction with labor unions."

He said school boards need more strength. Trustees want to be able to respect teachers, but they must refuse to accept incompetence.

Mr. Wood started the fireworks when he said trustees should have power similar to industry to discharge persons who were not producing.

R. H. Reeve of Victoria jumped to defense of teachers with a declaration that they could not be compared with workers in industry, that they operated on a professional basis, and that they were prepared "to do their own policing" to maintain high standards.

BACKS STAND

He suggested "if a teacher is not growing professionally" his increment could be withheld or withdrawn. B.C. Teachers Federation was ready to help, he said. BCTF President W. V. Allester of Duncan backed his stand.

Teachers deserved more than 30 days' notice, Mr. Reeve declared. Phil Eggersman of Parksville-Qualicum Beach supported him.

Mr. Wood insisted that if a principal was not "cutting the mustard in the view of the parents and school trustees then surely it need not go on forever."

School boards need more strength, he said.

The final vote was decided on standing ballot. President H. A. Moffatt of Prince George voted and when the issue became hot was sustained by general ruled demands for a secret ballot of the convention.

The convention defeated an Okanagan bid for removing cost of health services from school board budgets on the ground that if they made no contribution trustees would have no voice in demanding service from medical health officers or public health nurses.

RENEW DEMAND

Okanagan branch renewed an old demand for legislation to require all vehicles to stop when a school bus is loading or unloading. Victoria, Chilliwack and Nelson opposed it on the ground that it was not practical and that it would tend to train children in unsafe practices when they used other buses. It was defeated.

BCSTA executive was instructed to seek a reduction in charges for electrical energy. Members contend they use the off-peak load and should get it cheaper.

The executive was also instructed to establish a public relations and publicity service "on a more adequate and effective scale."

The convention asked, without discussion, for B.C. government action to reduce costs of watchmen and extra insurance premiums caused by radical "Doukhobor disturbances."

ADVICE TO BEAR-HUNTERS: NEVER BELIEVE A WOMAN

SQUAW CREEK CANYON, Calif. (UP)—A woman, seeing W. S. Lloyd hunting in the woods, stopped him and asked:

"My husband is trying to hunt bear, but there aren't any around here, are there?"

A falling piece of tree bark distracted Lloyd. He looked up and fired. A 250-pound black bear fell at the woman's feet.

He is survived by his wife, Vallee, and a daughter, Barbara.

Midwest Farmers Boo Benson's Farm Plan

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's farm price support views came under sharp attack today as the house agriculture committee opened "grass roots" hearings in the politically-important Midwest.

Several farmers told the committee Benson should be replaced by a new secretary.

At least four persons urged the resignation of Benson. Their suggestions were applauded. Several times when speakers suggested the abolition of price supports the audience booed.

Police, Peasants Battle in France's Farm-Price War

LIMOGES, France (Reuters)—About 30 French police fought a pitched battle with farmers manning a roadblock near Nevers, Central France, Monday, as the last workers of 14 districts struck the first blow in their price war against the government.

The police won the day only after a number of both sides had been injured. One demonstrator was arrested.

Hundreds of other barricades were erected elsewhere in Central France but the incident at Nevers is the only clash with the police reported so far.

Demonstrations were generally carried out in good humor.

The barricades were made of carts, trucks, tractors, harvesters and tree trunks.

The new "peasants revolt" sprang from the steep drop in farm prices which has brought no proportionate relief to the consumer.

Police Stop Full Scale Dock War

NEW YORK (AP) — Longshoremen sped to work today on the Brooklyn waterfront in closed trucks as 1,000 policemen patrolled the area to thwart any renewal of the violence which flared twice Monday.

Police twice prevented direct clashes between AFL dockworkers and members of the International Longshoremen's Association, recently ousted from the AFL. However, rocks and bottles were thrown, and four men were slightly injured.

ILA members hurled rocks and bottles at AFL dockworkers as they headed home after work on a Brooklyn pier, manned until Monday by the ILA.

The dockworkers scurried for cover and were quickly reinforced by members of the Seafarers International Union (AFL) whose headquarters were nearby.

Police arrived before a full-fledged waterfront battle developed and rounded up 13 of the attackers.

British Labor Leaders Demand Reasons for Guiana Depositions

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of the Labor party have called on Britain's Conservative government to publish immediately a full report on why it suspended the constitution of British Guiana.

The Socialist chiefs made the demand in a statement Monday after considering a telegram from Cheddi Jagan, the deposed leftist prime minister of the South American colony.

Jagan's wire was addressed to Labor member Fenner Brockway. It said the suspension of the colony's constitution last week was "wholly unwarranted," and it described the presence of British troops, sent to the colony by plane and warship, "a threat to internal quiet and peace."

In Georgetown, capital of British Guiana, it was announced that Jagan and L. F. S. Burnham, chairman of the left-wing People's Progressive Party which won last April's elections, have cabled Britain's Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton, asking him to meet them in London next Monday to discuss the colony's crisis.

"ESSENTIAL"

Clement Attlee, head of the Labor Party, and his chief lieutenants, Herbert Morrison and James Griffiths, said in their statement that it is "essential that the government publish at the earliest possible moment, a full statement of the facts which led it to decide on the serious step of suspending the constitution of the colony."

WHITE PAPER

They added that the Labor party is "accordingly making immediate representations to the colonial secretary for the publication of a white paper policy statement which, it is hoped, can be made available before the House reassembles next week."

They said the Labor party would also expect a full statement in the House from Lyttelton—possibly on the first day that Parliament reconvenes after the summer recess.

"It also appears clear . . . that a debate must take place at the earliest possible opportunity," they said.

Prime Minister Churchill and his cabinet will discuss the Labor leaders' demand at a cabinet meeting today.

Churchill said Saturday he would welcome an early parliamentary debate on the situation in British Guiana.

The Caribbean Labor Congress' London branch Monday tried in vain to meet officials of the Labor party and of the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress to submit a resolution of protest against the government's policy in British Guiana.

McCARTHY SAYS PROBE REVEALS 'ESPIONAGE' AT ARMY CENTRE

NEW YORK (AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy said Monday a new investigation has turned up indications of "extremely dangerous espionage" at the Fort Monmouth, N.J., United States Army Signal Corps radar centre and possibly throughout the Signal Corps.

He said that testimony before his Senate permanent investigations sub-committee "has all the earmarks that extremely dangerous espionage" has been committed recently at Fort Monmouth.

McCarthy added without elaboration:

"If it develops as it has been it will envelop the whole Signal Corps."

Several Fort Monmouth employees were suspended recently on security grounds.

National Scholarship Plan In Sight Says U.B.C. Graduate

MONTREAL (CP) — Implementation of a national scholarship plan as recommended by the Massey commission is in sight, Raghbir Singh Basi, 25-year-old University of British Columbia graduate and president of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, said Monday.

Mr. Basi told the opening session of the 38,500-member federation's annual meeting it would not be "too optimistic to expect an implementation of the scholarship recommendation in the near future."

He said a federation campaign last year brought "this greatly overdue social reform" before the government "in very strong terms." Encouraging responses were received from Prime Minister St. Laurent, Finance Minister Abbott and other cabinet ministers.

Frank Muldoon, University of Manitoba and western vice-president, said a request to the Canadian Passenger Association for a 50 per cent reduction in passenger rail fares for students met with "a polite no."

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was crushed to death and three other children were injured Saturday by the drop of a heavy artillery weapon from a plane in parachute troop manoeuvres.

Army officials said the children were playing in an area which had been banned to the public during the exercises.

'Seven Lousy, Stinkin' Goals . . .'

Victoria Cougars' dressing room had the cheerful warmth of a morgue Monday afternoon after the Cats had been beaten 7-3 by Calgary Stampeders, third straight loss for the Cougars. And unhappiest of all were the defensemen who were unable to harness the speed of the Calgary forwards. Dejected expressions on the faces of three of the rearguards, left to right, Sam Lavitt, Tony Schneider and Ross Lowe, depict the feeling of the entire club. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Cougars Lose Again; Stamps Take WHL Lead

Cowboys Romp to Victory; Defensive Lapses Hurt Cats

Calgary 7, Victoria 3

By BILL WALKER

Victoria Cougars had little to be thankful for, Thanksgiving Day, with no thanks to Calgary Stampeders.

Yet to play their first game at home and playing their fourth game on the coast in less than 96 hours, the Stampeders exploded for a 7-3 victory over the Cougars at Memorial Arena Monday, before a near capacity holiday crowd.

It was the third straight defeat for the Cougars in their first week of Western Hockey League action. For the Stamps it was victory No. 3 and put them in a tie with Vancouver Canucks for the league lead, each with seven points.

Flashing their best offensive of the year in the first period when twice they took the lead, the Cougars wilted as the game progressed and the Stamps never looked like losers after the opening Cougar onslaught had spent itself.

Colin Kilburn electrified the crowd in his first shift on the ice by breaking through almost the entire Calgary team to give Andy Hebenton a leading pass which the burly winger who, incidentally, played a solid game throughout, turned into the opening goal at 1.59 with a pass back to Kilburn.

His first try blocked by goalkeeper Bill Brennan, Kilburn rammed the rebound home to provide a 1-0 margin.

The Stamps retaliated at 3.28 when, after a faceoff in the Victoria zone, Max Quackenbush rifled a shoulder-high drive by goalie Red Almas of the Cougars to knot the count.

Scrappy Bill Sinnett outraced the Calgary defenders to a partially deflected pass from Reg Abbott to beat Brennan with a hard shot from the side at 12.02 and restore the Cougars' edge, but the advantage was short lived.

Stamps See Opening, Take It

A disputed icing call by linesman Bert Nelson resulted in a faceoff in the Victoria zone and the Stamps quickly capitalized on what might have been the most crucial play of the contest.

Frank Ashworth, who later was to get a second goal, converted a double relay from Archie Scott and Steve Witiuk to tie the score for the second time at 14.40.

Typical of what was to follow occurred when Art Michaluk picked up an errant Cougar pass at 16.28 and caught the short side with a partially screened shot that appeared to catch Almas by surprise, and Stamps were ahead to stay.

Coach Billy Reay of Cougars was serving a high-sticking penalty when the Stamps struck again at 9.12 of the second period, Fred Hucul being put in the clear at the Victoria blue line by Gus Kyle and beating Almas easily.

Nineteen seconds later, Witiuk banged home Scott's rebound to give the cowboys a 5-2 margin.

Being outplayed at this stage of the game and with their defense showing in disfavor, the Cougars gained momentary respite from the Stampeder attack when Sam Bettio and Reg Abbott combined for the third Victoria goal at 16.18, Bettio scoring on a backhander.

All Hope Ended Here

Trapped on a quick thrust by the Stamps, the Cougars saw their comeback attempt nipped in the making at 19.07 when Sid Finney broke down the left wing and beat Almas with a snap shot to the far side of the net.

What appeared to be a harmless offensive manoeuvre resulted in the seventh and final Calgary goal at 13.53 in the third frame, Archie Scott stealing the puck from a Victoria defender behind the net and rifling a pass to Ashworth, who was standing unmolested in front of the goal.

Previous to Ashworth's final marker, however, the Cougars were outlucked in a brief succession of dangerous sorties. In turn, Bettio hit the post with Brennan well beaten, Sinnett came close, Kilburn's try from the side skidded under Brennan and across the goalmouth and Eddie Dorohy missed a grand opportunity when he couldn't control a bouncing puck until he had passed the open goalmouth.

The smooth-passing Stampeders were always dangerous and three times in the final period broke in on Almas alone, only to be cheated of adding to their total, Ray Barry and Gus Kyle having point-blank tries.

In addition to Hebenton, Kilburn was probably the Cougar who stood out most in defeat.

Cougars are idle until Friday, when they meet Edmonton Flyers at Memorial Arena.

BUSINESS OR SPORT?

Baseball Goes On Trial Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized baseball goes before the United States Supreme Court today in what is perhaps the most significant legal contest in the history of the national sport.

The court has been asked to decide whether baseball is an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. If it decides that it is, the ruling could mean the end of big-league baseball as it now is played. But even if the court were to rule against baseball, there are possible outs. Congress, for instance, could pass a special law, or there might evolve a sort of gentleman's agreement among the players.

Argument on three appeals the high court agreed to hear was set down to begin late today, but it was possible that start of the three-hour argument would be deferred until Wednesday.

IN COURT BEFORE

The question whether baseball violates U.S. anti-trust laws has been before the Supreme Court previously. In 1922 the court decided baseball wasn't a business, and that as a sport it was not subject to federal anti-trust laws.

The three appeals now before the high court were filed by minor-leaguers George Toolson and Walter Kowalski and a minor-league club owner, Jack Corbett.

All three maintain that the 1922 decision no longer applies. They contend the game has been greatly changed since then by such developments as intricate farm systems and radio and television coverage.

In addition, the appeals maintain, baseball amounts to something resembling slavery since the players are tied to their club owners under the controversial reserve clause, which gives the owners absolute control over baseball activities of the players.

Fort William-born Dave Gatherum was flown to the Motor City Sunday, after Sawchuck suffered a knee injury Saturday night, and shut out Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0. He stopped 22 shots, two of them close-in drives by Leaf captain Ted Kennedy in the last two minutes of play.

Three games were played Sunday and two Saturday. The Leafs opened their home series Saturday night with an easy 6-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks. In Montreal, the Canadiens downed Detroit 4-1. In other action Sunday night Boston Bruins defeated the Canadiens 4-1 and New York Rangers downed Chicago 5-3.

Scots Down Nanaimo; Wright Nets Hat Trick

Canadian Scottish 6
Nanaimo 2

Canadian Scottish this season are building a reputation for playing good football, and for coming from behind to win. They did both Monday at Royal Athletic Park, when they won comfortably against Nanaimo in a benefit game for polio victim Ken Griffin.

After 12 minutes' play, Scottish, who started slowly, were two goals down. Nanaimo played a fast game, making frequent use of the wing to wing pass, and each of their goals came from a cross from left-winger Patterson. The second was a copy-book example of how to score, as Tom White took a low pass from the left and hit a first-time drive from the edge of the penalty area which beat goalie Ken Wright all the way.

After this Scottish settled down. Both sides had trouble with the greasy ball, and after 17 minutes Scottish inside right Aikenclose scored with a hard shot which went into the net off the Nanaimo left back.

Scottish for a time had most of the play, but dithered in front of goal, and it was Nanaimo who nearly scored again as Ken Wright dived full length to turn a shot round the post. As half-time drew near a corner led to an indirect free kick against Nanaimo in their penalty area. Flaaten's kick opened up the goal for centre forward Rookie Wright, who scored with a neat header.

STRATEGY BACKFIRES

Tied 2-2 at the interval, and that was as much of the game as Nanaimo had. They had played the offside-trap successfully so far, but now it backfired on them, and Scottish played some fine football using the long ball through the middle.

Rookie Wright made it 3-2 with a beautiful lob over goalie Willgriss; Lampert on the right wing added another with an unstoppable drive; Flaaten gathered a loose clearance in front of goal and walked it in for the fifth; and finally Hobson set up Rookie Wright who made no mistake for his hat-trick and the Scottish sixth and last goal.

On this showing, Scottish should be the team to beat this year.

GEOGAN TRADED TO BOMBERS FOR MANSON

Fiori Goegan, oldest member of the Cougars in the point of service, Monday was traded to Seattle Bombers for right winger Bob Manson.

Goegan, who joined the Cougars in their inaugural 1948-49 season, has been with the club continuously since that time.

Manson, a 5 foot, 10-inch 160-pound forward, was with Saskatoon Quakers during their championship 1951-52 season and with Saskatoon and Seattle last year. He scored 10 goals and had 10 assists for the Quakers in 1951-52 and accumulated 27 points on eight goals and 19 assists last season.

In announcing the trade, Cougar general manager Fred Hutchinson expressed hope that Manson's acquisition would fill the present need for right wing strength. Goegan alternated at forward and defense the past two seasons for the Cougars.

Babe Fully Recovered; Plans National Tour

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) Babe Didrikson Zaharias, whose sports career was feared at an end six months ago when she underwent an operation for cancer, is recovering "perfectly" and will return to golf on a full-time basis.

The famous woman athlete is here to play in the Texas women's open, of which she is defending champion, and it will be the only tournament for her until next year. But she will start a national tour about Nov. 1 with Lew Worsham, winner of the world's championship tournament at Chicago this summer. They will visit 35 cities, under sponsorship of George May, who puts on the Chicago tournament, and gives lessons in golf—all free to the public.

In January she will make the women's golf tour starting at Tampa, Fla., where she lives and owns a golf course.

Mrs. Zaharias was in Beaumont, Tex., last week for the first six-month check-up following her operation. The physicians told her all tests were negative and she was recovering "perfectly."

Stamps Trim Bombers,

By The Canadian Press

It took four games in as many nights to do it, but Calgary Stampeders made enough hay in the Western Hockey League during the long holiday week-end to boost them into a first-place tie with Vancouver Canucks.

Stampeders whipped Seattle Bombers 6-2 Sunday night after drawing 1-1 with New Westminster Royals Saturday. Their only loss was to Vancouver Friday. Canucks battled to a 3-3 stalemate with Seattle Saturday. There were no other games Sunday and Monday.

Finney banged in two goals in the third period against Seattle as Stampeders cut loose with three goals in less than two minutes. Steve Black, Walt Trentini, George Pargeter and Witiuk tallied the other goals for the winners.

Both Bomber goals were scored in the hectic third period, with Lorne Nadeau and Mark Marquess the marksmen.

BRENNAN GREAT

Goalie Bill Brennan saved the day against New Westminster as he put on a tremendous exhibition in the third period to hold the draw. Pierre Brilliant sent the Royals into the lead in the first period, but Finney tied it up in the second.

Goalie Chuck Rayner, with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League last season, registered the second shutout of the week-old WHL season as Quakers downed Edmonton 4-0. High-scoring George Senick accounted for three of the Saskatoon goals and John Bailey got the other.

Cy Rouse, Dale Sweaney and Bill Wylie were the Vancouver marksmen in the 3-3 tie Saturday against Seattle and Guyle Fielder, Joe Bell and Nadeau scored for the Bombers.

Tonight New Westminster opens a Prairie tour at Saskatoon in the lone WHL game.

Scotts Still Unbeaten

Teams like Canadian Scottish of the Victoria and District Football Association make sports a fascinating subject for its followers.

The Scots, who could not win for losing last season, emerged from a busy week-end in first place and with their district circuit record still unmarred by a loss.

Sunday afternoon the Scots came from behind a two-goal deficit to down Victoria West 3-2 and climb back into first place by virtue of a one-point edge over Esquimalt.

In the other Sunday game, Wood Motors scored their first win of the season, getting a 3-2 nod over Heaneys.

Esquimalt beat Civil Servants 3-2 Saturday

First half of the Scottish-West game was fairly even with Wests taking a 2-1 lead at the half. Don Burgess scored at 16 minutes from his centre forward slot, and inside left Freddy French made it 2-0 five minutes later. Glen Smith got Scots' first goal at the 27-minute mark.

After 21 minutes of the second half, Scottish scoring star Rookie Wright got the tying tally, heading in a corner kick.

The winning goal was hotly disputed by Wests when Scots' Billy Jobson scored three minutes from full time. Jobson's 18-yard ground shot was close to the post and the Wests claimed it had gone outside the post.

However, the goal was allowed by the referee. As the game was played at Bullen Park, there were no nets on the goals, hence the confusion.

Wood Motors held a handy 3-0 lead over Heaneys at half-time but were hard pressed to hold a one-goal margin in the last five minutes of the game.

Tommy Fallon blasted in a pair of goals in the first half and Ken Sneddon added a single for Wood Motors in the first half but 20 minutes into half Mel Sillars put Heaneys on the score sheet.

Heaneys' outside right, George Coldwell, scored eight minutes from full time and Heaneys put on the pressure unsuccessfully in an attempt to tie the score.

On Saturday Esquimalt edged Civil Service 3-2 for their second victory in three starts.

Ken Barnes scored two of the Dockyarders' goals and assisted on the other. Esquimalt lead 2-0 at the half on Barnes' goals, Scotty Stevens scoring for Civil Service.

Alex Stewart gave Esquimalt a 3-1 lead early in the second half, Charlie Constable scoring the final goal for Civil Service.

Esks Two-Time Stamps, Riders Defeat Bombers

Thirteen — unlucky or not? The Western Interprovincial Football Union sees it half-and-half.

Edmonton Eskimos played their 13th game Monday night and their 22-6 victory over Calgary Stampeders moved them 10 points ahead of the pack for a certain bye into the WIFU final. Saskatchewan Roughriders edged Winnipeg Blue Bombers 14-13 in their 13th game to move into a second-place tie with Bombers and all but assure a playoff berth.

Calgary's game—No. 13 loss left the Cowboys with but a slim mathematical hope of gaining the three-team playoffs. Bombers' loss in the 13th game of the 16-game schedule left them no hope of overtaking Edmonton.

And three losers in the WIFU's twin doubleheader Thanksgiving week-end had 13-point scores. Saturday. Eskimos romped to a 34-13 win over Stampeders at Calgary and Saskatchewan downed Bombers 18-13 before 16,000 at Winnipeg. A record 15,565 at Regina saw Riders edge Bombers 14-13 Monday.

LITLE DOUBT

The week-end results left doubt only as to the second and third-place finishers. Edmonton, with 11 wins in 13 starts, has a 10-point margin at the top. Winnipeg and Saskatchewan are six ponts up on Stampeders. Each club has three games remaining.

Monday's win at Regina was the second straight for Riders over Bombers and Saskatchewan's fourth in six meetings between the club this season.

Harry Lampman scored Saskatchewan's major on a pass from Filchock and Del Wardien converted and kicked a field goal. Ken Charlton booted a single and Mac Speedie was credited with a safety touch. No one was credited with Saskatchewan's other safety, nor the two scored by Winnipeg. Bombers scorers were Geoff Crain with a major and Bud Korchak with a convert and a field goal.

A crowd of 15,500 watched Eskimos power their way to victory Monday night. Rollie Miles, Steve Mendryk and Tom Stolhandske scored majors, all converted by Wilbur Snyder. Rod Pantages booted for three singles. John Henry Johnson scored the lone Calgary major and Glen Christian converted.

Saturday night at Calgary another acquisition from Oklahoma, 21-year-old back Billy Vessels, picked up 15 points on three majors.

End Frank Anderson, another Oklahoma alumnus, and Rod Pantages, a Vancouver product, added majors for Edmonton. Tackle Wilbur Bill Snyder, an Idaho University grad, converted all five Edmonton touchdowns and kicked a field goal.

Calgary's two majors were counted by Pete Thodos, another Vancouver product, and John Henry Johnson, an import from Arizona State. Both were converted by Glen Christian.

At Winnipeg, it was field goals by back Del Wardien, a Montana player who has been in the WIFU long enough to be classed as a Canadian, that won for the Riders.

FOUR FIELD GOALS

The 29-year-old Wardien, who played with Calgary before moving to Regina, kicked four field goals, two in the last quarter, to wipe out a 13-12 Blue Bomber lead.

Saskatchewan scored six more points on a touchdown by end Harry Lampman that was converted by Wardien.

BASKETBALLING KINS JOIN SAANICH LEAGUE

Victoria Kins, lone Lower Island senior A men's basketball representatives, have joined the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League.

The defending Vancouver Island champs failed to register with the Victoria and District Basketball Association by the entry deadline and, as a result, have hooked up with the suburban circuit.

Manager Pat Horgan reports the club hopes to use Oak Bay High School for home games.

Kins have scheduled their season opener for Oct. 31 against Alberni Athletics.

Blanket Finish Seen In Big Four Grid Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Big Four football race bunched for a blanket finish during the Thanksgiving week-end as all four clubs tucked two games under their belts.

Montreal Alouettes came out on top in the double-dish week-end serving, whipping Ottawa twice to wind up in a first-place tie with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Toronto Argonauts and Tiger-Cats split, leaving Argos and Rough Riders square, two points behind the leaders.

Alouettes, surprise package of the Big Four, whipped Riders 24-6 at Ottawa Saturday and then to prove there was no fluke to it, trimed the Ottawa club 26-18 at Montreal Sunday.

Tiger-Cats humiliated Argonauts 26-0 at home Saturday, but a three-touchdown third-quarter flash Monday gave the Torontonians a 30-12 win over the Cats before a record Hamilton crowd of 19,069.

FIVE LEFT

With five games left for each club, anything can happen before the playoffs to decide the Eastern Grey Cup representative.

A charging Hamilton line handcufed Toronto Saturday while Vito Ragazzo, Royal Bailley and Lou Kusserow scored Tiger-Cat majors. Tip Logan booted a field goal and three converts, Cam Fraser kicked two singles and Merle Hapes got another while Armstrong scored a safety touch.

A crowd of 19,150 watched as Argos failed to get beyond the Hamilton 26-yard line.

It was a different story Monday. The Toronto wingline held out the powerful Hamilton front wall and quarter Nobby Wirkowski completed 16 of 27 passes for 353 yards.

CURTISS SCORES PAIR

Ulysses Curtis led the Argo scoring with two majors. Al Bruno, Hal Faverty and Joe Scudero got the others while Bob Shaw booted four converts and Steve Karrys kicked a single. Lou Kusserow got a major and Tip Logan a convert for Hamilton.

In Ottawa Saturday, Alex Webster, up from Washington Redskins, bolstered the Alouette drive to victory, tearing the Ottawa line to shreds and snaring Sam Etcheverry passes adeptly. Jim Miller, John O'Quinn and Phil Adrian scored Als' touchdowns with Ray Poole kicking a field goal and two converts. Tex Coulter added two singles and a safety touch.

Gene Choo Choo Roberts scored the Ottawa touchdown and converted it.

At Montreal, Etchverry passed to O'Quinn, Webster and Chuck Hunsinger for Alouette majors. Ray Poole kicked two field goals and three converts and Als added a safety touch. Tom O'Malley passed to Avatus Stone for one Ottawa touchdown and Roberts went through the line for another. Roberts kicked two field goals and two converts.

Senick, Black Lead Scorers

SEATTLE (AP)—A Saskatoon sharpshooter and two players from Calgary tied with 10 points each for individual scoring honors in the first week of Western Hockey League play.

George Senick, Saskatoon, who included a three-goal "hat trick" in his six goals, and Steve Black and Sid Finney were the leaders, league headquarters announced Monday.

BISONS WIN

SYRACUSE (CP)—Don Marshall scored two goals and assisted on another to lead Buffalo Bisons to a 5-2 victory over Syracuse Warriors in an American Hockey League season opener Saturday night.

Royals Blank Falcons In Soccer Title Match

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Canadian champion New Westminster Royals defeated the American champion Chicago Falcons 5-0 to win the North American amateur soccer championship Monday.

New Westminster took the lead at the 16-minute mark of the first half on a goal by Gordie Ion on a cross from Erroll Crossan.

The second goal was blasted past the Chicago goalie, Carlos Monttes, by Ivan Carr after 24 minutes of play in the first half.

The Royals' third and fourth goals were scored by Gordie Ion and Doug Gregg at the 32 and 42-minute marks, respectively.

Crossan scored the only goal of the final half on a passing play with Gregg.

Kostenuk Sweeps Final Race Card; Newton Sets Mark; Cooper No.1

The winning of a special race by Miss Kaija Kalevala, first girl to race on Vancouver Island, a new track record by Mike Newton, a clean sweep of the big car events by Eddie Kostenuk and the presentation of the B.C. championship awards, featured the last race of the season at Shearing's Cobble Hill track Thanksgiving Day afternoon.

Verne Moore and Bruce Passmore drove in an exciting big car duel which was declared a dead heat as Moore caught Passmore at the tape. The big 40-lap stock car main event had to be flagged down when Nielsen from Nanaimo swerved into the path of Dick Varley who crashed into him with Dave Cooper also piling in.

Kostenuk swept the card for big cars, winning the helmet dash, the first heat and the 30-lap main. Mike Newton lowered his own track record of 17.12, set last month, to 17.09 for the quarter-mile.

Topping Rink Sweeps Major 'Spiel Honors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dick Topping, a curling wizard from British Columbia's Okanagan Valley, led his rink to a double win Monday and a clean sweep of the major prizes in the $5,000 British Empire Games bonspiel here.

Of the six events in the double-barrelled draw, Topping won two, Vancouver curlers won three and the other was captured by Bill Allen and his cowboy-hatted curlers from Olds, Alta.

Aside from the prizes, Topping's rink and the finalists in all events receive an expenses-paid invitation to return here for a special "world series" of curling in the four days prior to the Empire Games.

They'll engage the four top rinks in this winter's Dominion championships, the Dominion's top two junior rinks, and two rinks from Scotland for the curling championship.

VAMPS PROTEST LOSS

Cadets, Tars In Grid Wins

Navy 27, Vampires 0
Royal Roads 12, Whitneys 6

Her Majesty's Canadian football forces did themselves proud over the week-end, putting down the threats of two civilian groups.

On Saturday, a voracious Navy squad devoured the injury-riddled Vampires, 27-0, while Monday, Royal Roads' well-drilled cadets dumped Oak Bay Whitneys, 12-6, in a thriller.

Results left Royal Roads in first place with two victories in two tries, Navy second with a win and a tie, Vampires third with a single victory and Oak Bay, still the team that confounds the experts by residing in the cellar with only a tie in three games.

However, Navy faces loss of the points gained Saturday and possibly further action. Vampires protested the Navy victory on the grounds that the sailors were using players who had played intermediate ball. League officials met Monday night but came to no definite decision on the matter.

A crowd of around 1,500 at Monday's game saw a lighter Royal Roads team capitalize on a weak Oak Bay pass defense and a stream of second-half penalties that stopped Whitneys' many lengthy drives.

The clubs battled through a scoreless first quarter but both struck for majors in the second quarter.

DONAHUE SCORES

Halfback Don Donahue set up Oak Bay's major when he scooped up teammate Ken Higgs' punt which had been blocked by the hard-charging cadet line. Donahue ran the ball to the cadet five-yard line and George Wilson knifed over for the major on the first play. Higgs' convert attempt was blocked.

In the last three minutes of the half, Royal Roads went into a spread formation and on the last play of the half quarterback Paul Manson hit Tim Ryly in the end zone with a payoff heave which caught the Oak Bay defense asleep. Bill Robertson converted to make it 6-5 for the cadets.

Oak Bay tied up the game in the third quarter when Bud French's field goal attempt went wide but rolled through the end zone for a single.

LONG RUN

However, 145-pound cadet halfback Steve Oaks electrified the crowd and won the game minutes later when he squirted through the Oak Bay line and belted 77 yards for a touchdown. Robertson again converted.

Oak Bay's backfield, possibly the best in the league on paper, outrushed Royal Roads by a large margin with Barry Caviness and French outstanding. However, penalties killed off one scoring chance after another as the clock ran out.

On Saturday, Vampires were no match for the heavyweight sailors, who unveiled several new players and an effective passing attack.

Vampires were without quarterback Pete Ash and end Rickie McVie, out with injuries, and lost blocking back Art Manson and playing coach Ray Mitchell in the first quarter.

Standouts for the Navy club were quarterback Cam McIntyre, who passed for three touchdowns and plunged for one and fullback Dave Burck, who scored two majors.

PASSES HURT

Burck started the scoring orgy in the first quarter when he intercepted Bob Copeman's pass and ran it back to the Vampire 12. Burck picked up a first down in two smashes at the line and Dave Martin went over for the major, Doug Brown converting.

Jack Grant almost duplicated the effort when he intercepted a pass and was finally hauled down on the Vampire four, from where McIntyre went over on a sneak. Brown's convert missed.

The hoary old sleeper pass paid off for Navy minutes later when McIntyre tossed a long one to Burck, who went down the sideline unmolested. Brown converted to make score 17-0.

Navy newcomer Ray Hobbs picked off still another errant Vampire pass and ran it back 40 yards to the Vampire two. After two running plays lost six yards, McIntyre connected with a toss to Gerrior for the touchdown.

Navy's final tally came in the fourth quarter on another long heave from McIntyre to Burck, the play covering 43 yards.

United Shares Football Lead

United 2, Firefighters 1
North Shore 4, Vancouver City 1

Proving the old adage, the bigger they are the harder they fall, Victoria United Saturday leap-frogged over Vancouver Firefighters into first place in the Coast Soccer League.

However, for the time being at least, United will share soccer's premier position with the North Shore United who have yet to taste defeat.

Displaying an improved brand of ball, United edged Firefighters, former leaders, 2 to 1, at Athletic Park Saturday. On the mainland, North Shore whipped Vancouver City 4-1. Both teams have five points, North Shore having a game in hand over United. Firefighters are in third place, one point behind.

Leading United to victory in a game almost completely dominated by the locals, were Whitey Turner and Chiek Newman; both to whom are in their first full season in the Coast League.

Turner scored both goals from his outside right position, while Newman, who was injected into the line-up as a replacement for centre-forward Tommy Druce, sidelined by an injured leg, assisted on both counters.

Halfback Bill McMillan, also a newcomer this year, put Newman in scoring position at the 24-minute mark. Newman's drive hit the post and Turner drove the rebound past Alan Butler, Firemen's talented young goalkeeper.

McALLISTER HELPS

Firefighters showed to their best advantage halfway through the second half when a determined rally almost paid off only to be foiled by particularly fine goalkeeping of Bill McAllister of United.

Frank Ambler set up the lone Vancouver goal when he beat the United defenders cleanly and passed to rookie centre forward Neil McEachnie who tapped the ball into the net.

The crowning save by McAllister came in the final minute of the game as he stopped Doug Hemmerling's hard drive when a score seemed certain.

English Side Trims Wales

CARDIFF, Wales (Reuters)—Three snap goals in three minutes Sat rday gave England a 4-1 victory against Wales in an international soccer game watched by 61,000 fans at Ninian Park, Cardiff.

Welsh inside-left Ivor Allchurch rocked home the first goal for Wales 22 minutes after play began.

Disaster hit Wales 11 minutes from the interval. Left-back Alf Sherwood collided with England's Tommy Finney and had to be taken off the field. With the Welsh defense weakened, Dennis Wilshaw, inside-left, equalized for England seconds before half-time.

When England resumed play Wilshaw quickly headed another to put England ahead.

Nat Lofthouse, giant England centre-forward, then landed two goals in the Welsh net in the following two minutes.

C. J. Robertson and Bill Luney were tied for the runner-up spot with 79-14—65 and 77-12—65, respectively.

Three Repeat On AL All-Stars

NEW YORK (UP)—New heroes and old ones making comebacks took over the annual United Press American League All-Star team today as only three men from the 1952 group stayed on as repeaters.

Al Rosen of Cleveland who was just about "Mr. Everything" at bat this year, was the only unanimous choice, but batting champion Mickey Vernon of Washington and catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees were named on all except one ballot.

There were four Yankees, two players from the White Sox, two from the Senators and one each from the Indians and Tigers on the honor combine, chosen each year by a special committee of the baseball writers of America, three from each league city.

The only men to repeat from the 1952 team were Rosen, Berra, and golden boy Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, who barely made the grade in a close battle among the outfielders.

The rest of the team consisted of second baseman Billy Martin of the Yankees, rookie star Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers at shortstop, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox and Hank Bauer of the Yankees in the outfield, and strong-armed pitchers Bob Porterfield of the Senators, and Billy Pierce of the White Sox.

Team follows:

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker, in sight of a United States riding record, brought home only one winner at Golden Gate Fields Monday but it was the feature race, the Christopher Columbus purse.

After five shutouts and two seconds, Shoemaker finally entered the winner's circle aboard Hidden Moon, owned by P. A. Klipstein of Bakersfield, for his 386th triumph of 1953. He was out of the money on the ninth and final race.

Shoemaker is gunning for Tony De Spirito's 1952 mark of 390 winners in a year.

Hidden Moon paid $4.30 to win.

Thoroughbreds Leave for U.S.

LONDON (CP) — Four valuable thoroughbreds destined to race on United States tracks in Canadian colors were shipped by air Sunday to California.

The horses are the speedy four-year-old Irish filly, Blue Butterfly; the three-year-old Shazada and the two-year-olds No Peace and La Naturiste.

It is understood all will sport the racing silks of Alberta Ranches, turf syndicate in which Calgary oil man Max Bell is one of four equal partners.

Blue Butterfly is understood to be on lease for a limited period from Irish owner Frank More O'Ferrall. The two-year-old La Naturiste, which has run once unplaced in Britain, was bought by Bell for 6,000 guineas—about $17,600—at a yearling sale last year.

The air shipment was arranged by the Anglo-Irish Bloodstock Agency, whose spokesman declined details of the transfer.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARIES

Western Oils Lead Way Up

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were higher in moderate trading toward the close of today's stock market session.

Western oils led with a rise of more than 1½ points on the exchange's index. Other groups were also higher.

Golds rose with juniors strong, seniors weak and holding companies mixed. All price changes were slight.

MANY GAINERS

Several leading western oil issues rose more than 25 cents—Pacific, Federated, Gridoil and Calvan. Canadian Atlantic gained 50 cents for the biggest gain.

Industrials were up about a quarter-point with utilities in the lead. Papers slipped a little.

In base metals Dominion Asbestos traded more than 225,000 shares for a 30-cent gain.

Uraniums and Bathurst area base metals were stronger with a majority of small gains.

Wall Street Down Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of irregularity in the stock market today finally translated itself into a slightly lower movement.

Prices spread out over a range of around a point either way with the accent on the losing side.

Aircrafts started higher, slipped lower and then recovered with a rush that carried them ahead between 1 and 2 points at the best. Motors on the other hand started unchanged to lower, recovered well and then slipped.

Canadian stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagram fell ¼. International Nickel and Hiram Walker eased ⅛, and Dome Mines was unchanged.

Royalite Oil, Canadian issue on the American stock exchange, slipped ⅛.

Fractional Gains Feature Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Fractional advances ruled the stock market in quiet afternoon dealings today.

Hudson Bay Mining rose 1⅞ points to 39¾ and General Dynamics added one at 34½, but other changes were small.

Steels, senior metals, senior oils, utilities, papers and miscellaneous industrials were better while beverages were a little weaker. Banks and carriers held steady.

Mines were active and mixed, with Dominion Asbestos, Anacon and Torbrit up.

Western oils showed little change.

Beer Sales Down, Shares Sell Off

LONDON (Reuters)—The London exchange was dull today.

British government stocks lost fractions and in a generally easier industrial section brewery shares came in for selling following news of the decline in beer consumption in the United Kingdom.

International issues were irregular in the absence of a lead from Wall Street. Canadian Pacific registered a small gain and International Nickel dropped slightly.

Foreign bonds were mixed. Mining issues generally easier.

Closing prices: Boots Pure Drug 22s 4½d, Canadian Pacific $42½, Central Mining £1 13/32, Consolidated Goldfields 48s 9d, Courtaulds 48s, Hudson's Bay Co. 83s 1½d, Imperial Chemical 48s, Imperial Tobacco 58s 10½d, Metal Box 63s 6d, Mexican Eagle 22s 10½d, Rand Mines 65s, Babcock & Wilcox 69s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½s Consols 83¾, British 3½s War Loans 88¾, British Funding 4s 1960-1990 £100 1/16.

Grain

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Post-holiday trade generally was quiet today on the Winnipeg grain exchange with a lack of export interest reported. Rye showed the best tone.

The best commercial demand appeared in flax, where export houses and processors made purchases. Trade in oats and barley was mostly domestic while rye was mainly local.

Reports indicated small amounts of feed barley were sold to the United Kingdom over the holiday and also that small quantities of flax were sold to the U.K. and the continent.

Prices for the top grades of Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Friday.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans jumped several cents to their highest price since June in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat had a firm tone, the July contract hitting a seasonal high, as the weather forecast indicated no break in the southwestern drought. Corn eased at the start on heavy cash grain receipts, but recovered. Oats held within a narrow range.

Buying Spree Keeps Canada At Trade Peak

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's economy continued to grow in the first half of 1953, chiefly because Canadians themselves were buying more, the Bank of Montreal says in its current business review.

In the first six months of the year, production, employment and retail trade reached peak levels, but lower farm prices and stiff competition abroad harmed some industries.

"Nevertheless taking the economy as a whole, good fortune has far outweighed bad," the review says.

One yardstick of this growth is the increase in employment, the authors explain. Only 90,000 persons—or 1.6 per cent of Canada's labor force of 5,500,000 — were looking for jobs in July.

PAY RATES HIGHER

Moreover, 20 per cent less workers were on short-time, and rates of pay continued to rise to each an average of $1.36 an hour at mid-year.

"With more people working more hours at higher rates, the total pay of all wage and salary earners was up 10 per cent over last year . . ." the review notes.

CP Bonds Up Trifle

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial issues were slightly firmer today on Montreal bond markets. Government bonds held steady in light volume. The corporate market was generally unchanged with the exception of CPR, up a trifle.

SCOUT LORE SAVES LAD LOST IN RUGGED PEAKS

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Tucson Boy Scout who only recently flunked a simple tracking test passed the biggest test of all—saving his own life.

Lost in the dangerous Santa Catalina Mountains near here since Sunday, 11-year-old Augustine Acuna fell back on the lore he had learned in his Scout manual, and it paid off. He walked out of the mountains by himself Monday, while 100 searchers were looking for him.

"I checked the location of the sun with my watch as I had been taught to do," he said, "then I knew my directions were right."

He travelled almost 15 miles, all of it on the beam.

B.C. Teachers' Pension Fund Reported in Healthy Shape

NELSON, B.C.—The teachers' pension fund, to which teachers and the government contribute, is in healthy condition, Mrs. Margaret Beckwith of Victoria told the B.C. School Trustees in convention here. It stood at $16,000,000 at the end of 1951 and is increasing by $2,500,000 annually.

School boards do not now contribute to the fund, but the government pays into it six per cent of teachers' salaries and teachers make a similar basic payment.

In July last year a surplus in the fund permitted a 40 per cent increase in pensions, an average of about $26 a month.

On the present basis teachers retiring after 35 years of service receive an average of $133 a month. Overall average covering teachers retired since 1941 has been $102. The present plan will provide, for a male teacher entering the profession at 25 and retiring at 65, a pension of $190 a month, and for a female serving from age 25 to 60 a pension of $165.

Chinese Cook Admits Dismembering Body

NEW YORK (UP) — James Lew, a 34-year-old Chinese cook, told police today he stabbed and dismembered a drug-addicted prostitute in a fit of jealous rage.

Lew, a lunch room employee who entered the United States from China 10 years ago, confessed he killed Florence Pearl Gibbons, 33, and cut up her body after she told him she planned to marry another man.

Parts of her body—minus the head—were found early Sunday at two places a block apart in the neighborhood of Columbia University. The head was still missing today, and Lew told police he had thrown it in a street corner waste basket but couldn't remember where.

English Points Up Importance Of Education

Affects More People Than Any Undertaking

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Education affects more people than any other public undertaking in B.C., J. F. K. English of Victoria, assistant deputy minister of education, told the B.C. School Trustees' Association Monday. He spoke at the opening session of the association's 49th convention.

He stated total cost of education in B.C. for 1952-53 was $60,000,000, including government and local expenditure.

The province is divided into 80 large school districts governed by 540 trustees. They contained 205,000 pupils; and instruction was in the hands of 7,300 teachers.

Investment in school properties was "huge." Complete figures were not available, but since 1946 alone a total of $60,000,000 had been spent for new school buildings.

He urged that trustees, with the great responsibility upon them in directing education and administering the tremendously valuable plant represented by schools, learn as much as possible about their job and maintain high legislative standards.

CHISHOLM TO SPEAK

Dr. Brock Chisholm, who recently retired as director-general of the World Health Organization of the United Nations, will speak at a public meeting Tuesday, Oct. 20, at 8 p.m. in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden.

The meeting will be under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the United Nations Association, supported by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

This announcement was made today by Harry P. Hodges, president of the local branch of the UNA. Mr. Hodges expressed the pride of the branch in promoting the public appearance in Victoria first—and probably only—of Dr. Chisholm who has relaxed his decision, made upon his retirement, to resist many invitations received to speak of his experiences.

Hunt Confirms Intention to Seek Mayoralty

Charles W. Hunt, president of the Victoria local, American Federation of Musicians, this week-end confirmed a report carried in The Times last Monday that he will run for mayor in December.

Mr. Hunt has been head of the musicians' union for 13 years. He has had his own orchestra for more than 30 years.

His entry brings to five the number of mayoralty candidates. Others are Mayor Claude Harrison, Ald. Percy Scurrah, Ald. Waldo Skillings and Ald. Donald Smith.

Mr. Hunt said he would work toward bringing about greater harmony at City Hall. He said he wanted all departments of the city government to co-operate with one another and with the public.

Born in London, England, he came to Victoria as a boy, attending classes at Boys', Central and Victoria High Schools. He joined the army in 1917 but was too young for overseas service. He was a member of the Canadian Scottish reserve for many years.

Mr. Hunt is a salesman for an auto parts wholesale firm. He is a member of the Gyro Club, the Eagles, and the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion. He has also been active in Masonic circles.

Motorcyclist Breaks Arm and Leg In Collision; Companion Unhurt

A motorcyclist, who suffered a broken leg and arm Monday, was the only serious casualty of a holiday week-end when traffic was heavy in and around Victoria.

Charles Falta, about 25, of 2409 Vancouver, is in St. Joseph's Hospital in satisfactory condition following a collision with an automobile in the Colwood area at 2 p.m.

William Nesbitt, 1017 Craigdarroch, a passenger on the cycle, was not hurt.

Peter Hamilton of Shawnigan Lake was driver of the car.

A collision at Burnside and Harriet at 1.12 a.m. today resulted in heavy damage to two vehicles, but Saanich police say no one was injured. Hendrick Matt, 3090 Washington, and Clare L. Anderson Jr., 211 Cook, were the drivers.

At 8.20 p.m. Monday a car driven by Ronald Ferguson, Work Point Barracks, knocked over a fire hydrant on Burnside Road.

Unconscious Fireman Carried to Safety

Still in hospital today, Lieut. Hector McNeil was carried from 3134 Admirals Road blaze Saturday when overcome by ammonia gas and smoke. Above, the Saanich fireman, strapped to stretcher, is carried by mates and Saanich constable Ed Anderson. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

During the course of the holiday week-end, several friends and neighbors asked me, is Punch going to enter the mayoral contest?

And this morning, a couple of letters asked the same question.

Well, I would be delighted to answer, but I don't know.

So far, he has been very coy and evasive about the whole business.

Yesterday I put the question to him, squarely, with this result:

Have you any ambitions to be mayor of the fair city of Victoria? I asked him.

"On a day like this," said Punch, stretching lazily in front of the fireplace, "I doubt whether I have any ambitions whatsoever."

Come now, I said, the city of Victoria has treated you well, don't you think you could find it in yourself to do something for the city of Victoria?

"I might run for the job of cat-catcher," said Punch, showing interest.

I don't think that would do much for the city of Victoria, I told him. You have yet to catch your first cat, I pointed out.

"I know," sighed Punch, "but I can dream, can't I?"

Don't change the subject, I warned him. As Mayor, don't you think you could do something for the city?

"Possibly no more than the other candidates," said Punch, modestly. "What do you suppose the other candidates will do for Victoria?"

Well, Mr. Hunt, the musician, said he was going to bring harmony to City Hall, I pointed out.

"And I suppose Mr. Smith could finance a survey," Punch remarked. "And Mr. Scurrah could no doubt make a dress of welcome at the drop of a pattern."

What about Mr. Skillings, if he makes it official? I asked.

"He could offer us every assurance," Punch replied.

You are just being flippant, and you are not answering the question, I protested. Are you or are you not going to run for mayor?

"Oh, I don't really know," Punch said. "Do you think the mayor can run fast enough to make it interesting?"

He is pretty fast on his feet, I said.

"I will think it over," Punch decided. "If I hear the call, I will answer."

What kind of a call, I asked.

"If I hear someone call, dinner is ready, I will answer quickly," said Punch, with a meaningful leer.

I can take a hint.

And I will let you know when Punch decides whether or not to throw his hat in the ring.

ORPHANS FEAST

Weather Kind For Holiday Celebrations

A near-perfect Thanksgiving Day was enjoyed Monday by thousands of Victorians who jammed transportation facilities and a wide choice of holiday sports contests.

Autumn mist and high clouds made the day perfect for football and soccer, witnessed by large crowds at Heywood Avenue grounds and Royal Athletic Park.

Additional hundreds dotted the waters of Cowichan Bay to take part in the annual salmon derby to benefit Queen Alexandra Solarium, and others witnessed B.C. championship auto racing at Shearing Speedway, Cobble Hill.

Largest single crowd, estimated at 5,000, saw Victoria Cougars defeated 7-3 by Calgary Stampeders at Memorial Arena.

Travel reached a high peak over the three-day holiday week-end.

SOLID BOOKINGS

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported overloads on all trips, and ships were booked solidly between Victoria and Vancouver. All Nanaimo-Vancouver boat trips were crowded.

Trans-Canada Air Lines reported solid bookings for Monday, and all agencies found more people coming from the mainland to Vancouver Island for the holiday than going from the island to mainland.

Highway traffic was comparatively light.

UP TO AVERAGE

Turkey sales, though nothing to compare with Christmas, were well up to Victoria's Thanksgiving average.

One of the most enjoyed of all dinners, from the standpoint of both hosts and guests, was that arranged at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage by members of Victoria branch, Canadian Restaurant Association.

The restaurant men provided everything, and cooking was done by the orphanage staff. The restaurateurs then served the dinner at noon to the 48 youngsters and staff, and washed the dishes.

After the lunch of turkey, cranberry sauce, vegetables, cookies, candy and ice cream, the children were entertained at a conjuring show.

CGRA President Here

A man who knows the problems of road construction from years of experience in a province where highway building is a primary concern is president of the Canadian Good Roads Association. Hon. E. S. Spencer, Minister of Public Works for Newfoundland (left), will preside at opening session of the CGRA convention in Empress Hotel Wednesday. Here, in pre-convention discussion with Alex R. Morrison, London, Ont., president of the Canadian Automobile Association, Mr. Spencer explains it is still impossible to travel from one end of Newfoundland to the other. He told the AAA official this morning, "Cars come off the assembly line faster than we can build roads to accommodate them—but good progress has been made during the last year." 17-Year-Old Hunter First 1953 Fatality

Parksville Youth Dies Instantly When Shot in Neck by Companion

David Charles Robson, 17, of Parksville, was shot and killed accidentally Sunday by a member of his own hunting party to become Vancouver Island's first fatality of the 1953 hunting season.

According to evidence given at an inquest in Nanaimo today, the youth was shot by a juvenile member of the party, 17-year-old Raymond Robinson.

Third member was the dead youth's father, Capt. E. C. Robson of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, whose home is in Parksville.

NO BLAME ATTACHED

A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone was returned by the coroner's jury.

The accident occurred during a deer-hunting expedition near Church Road, north of Parksville.

The two boys had been hunting in the same area the night before the accident, and had seen signs of deer. They returned Sunday morning with the victim's father, and Robinson flushed a deer.

USING .303

He fired when he thought it reappeared, only to find he had shot his chum through the neck, causing instant death. He was using a .303-calibre rifle.

Robson, a popular member of Parksville's teen-age group, was a Grade XII student at Qualicum High School.

SOOKE HUNTER MISSING

Fears were felt for the safety of another young Island hunter in a second week-end deer hunting expedition.

Buddy Butler, 23, son of Wilfred Butler, Sooke logging operator, spent Sunday night in the Sooke Hills after becoming separated from his companions.

He walked out of the woods early today while a 25-man search party with two bloodhounds was preparing to comb the heavy-timbered Sooke Hills where he was lost.

Butler was separated from his father and a friend, Ozzie Shearing, Monday morning while the three were hunting deer.

The elder Butler and Shearing came to their rendezvous and waited until sundown for Buddy. He did not appear. They fired gunshot signals and heard no reply.

LOGGERS SEARCH

Loggers, employed by Butler in the area, started a search in the night and called for help from the South Vancouver Island Rangers emergency squad. By early morning, 25 men and the two dogs were in a base camp with walkie-talkie equipment and the first of the searchers had started an integrated hunt. Another 25 men were standing by.

RCMP officers, who assisted search plans, said Butler got lost in unfamiliar country, but made his way to the Sooke River and followed it out to the highway.

He suffered no ill effects.

WEEK-END ADDS ONE POLIO CASE

The polio incidence waned Saturday and Sunday but one new case marred the holiday week-end when a Victoria woman was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The Thanksgiving Day victim brings to 84 the number of cases occurring this year in Greater Victoria and 95 the total for all of Vancouver Island.

City Businessman Bernard Ciceri Funeral Wednesday

Bernard Robert Ciceri, Vancouver Island agent for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. since 1928, died on Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital, aged 66.

Prayers will be said tonight at 8.15 p.m. in Chaplin's Funeral Chapel. The funeral service will be in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Wednesday at 9 a.m. Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mr. Ciceri was born in Newport, Monmouth, England, and had been a resident of Victoria since 1913. He was educated at Radcliffe College, England.

He was a charter member of the Rotary Club, and a member of the Union Club, the Pacific Club and the Oak Bay Golf Club. He was also a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his widow, at the family residence, 26 Linden Avenue; three daughters, Mrs. D. F. O'Leary of Victoria, Mrs. E. Millard of Sarnia, Ont., and Miss Elizabeth at home; two sons, John Donald and Bernard Jr., both of Victoria; three brothers, John and Reginald of Victoria and Leo in England; a sister, Mrs. M. Brown, in England, and three grandchildren.

Judgment Reserved In Narcotics Case

Appeal Court today reserved judgment in the case of Richard G. Derby and Lloyd F. Clarke of Vancouver, appealing against a conviction of possessing narcotics.

The two men were convicted by Magistrate Harold Orr in Vancouver police court Aug. 7 and sentenced to 18 months imprisonment.

Payment Ordered

Herbert Cummings, young naval rating, was fined $20 and was ordered to pay $11.70 for damage done when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of doing wilful damage to a car. Court was told Cummings deliberately broke an aerial off a car owned by Clarence Ellis, 507 Wilson, while it was parked at night in the downtown area Sept. 30.

Magistrate Increases Fine Against Drinking Drivers

Magistrate Henry C. Hall today increased by $50 the $200 fine he usually imposes in impaired driving cases.

Three motorists who pleaded guilty to driving on the week-end while their ability was impaired by the use of alcohol, each was fined $250.

Fined were David Alfred Sharpe, 18, of 3503 Upper Terrace; Peter Henley Robertson, Pitt River, and Roy Gibson, Victoria.

The magistrate warned in court last week he was going to impose heavier penalties in cases of this kind.

Licenses of the trio were suspended.

Court was told Sharpe went off the road on Heywood Avenue and collided with a BCE pole at 1.54 a.m. Sunday.

ADMITTED DRINKING

The officer told the court Sharpe had told him, "I started drinking in the morning and I have been drinking, drinking and drinking ever since. I know I was drunk."

Car driven by Robertson climbed the centre cement curb of the Roundabout, knocked over a metal lamp standard, continued on to climb onto another island and hit a wooden post. Accident occurred at 5.57 p.m. Sunday.

"I've been drinking lots: I'm drunk," an officer quoted Robertson as saying.

Gibson was apprehended after the car he was driving collided with a parked truck on Broad Street near Johnson late Sunday night.

"He was unsteady on his feet and was intoxicated," a policeman told the magistrate.

Accused Admits Fraud Passing Bad Cheques

Andrew C. Thomas, about 35, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court today to four charges of obtaining money and goods from local firms by means of worthless cheques.

He was remanded to Friday for sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall, who ordered a probation officer's report. Thomas' criminal record, as read by Prosecutor Alan E. Bigelow, showed he had received prison terms for forgeries and house and shopbreakings during the last 13 years.

City and Saanich Squabble Over Tax On Water Pipeline

City Council and Saanich Council are fighting over whether the former should pay improvement taxes to the latter for 1,351 feet of water main.

The pipe involved was installed on city property at Elk Lake in Saanich. The city pays no taxes to Saanich for the property, but Saanich says it should pay on the pipe because that is an improvement, and the city is not exempt from improvement taxes.

Saanich sent the city a bill for $197.25.

City Council consulted its solicitor who said it was an illegal charge and advised the city not to pay it.

Now Saanich, on the advice of its solicitor, has written the city saying the charge is legal and that if the city doesn't pay, Saanich may sue or take the city's property and sell it for the taxes owing.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

Assuming that each works at a steady rate, Jack could do a certain job in four hours, Harry could do it in five hours, but Bob is slow and would take six hours and forty minutes. Each working at his normal rate, how long would these three take to do the job together?

Saturday's answer: Mrs. Brown had $18.40 in her bag.

Reduction Recommended In Fire Sprinkler Charge

A Chamber of Commerce delegation which went before the city's public works committee today to argue against recent imposition of water service charges on private sprinkler systems failed to convince committeemen that the charge should be abolished, but did convince them existing rates were too high.

The committee will recommend to the next meeting of City Council that the existing fire service charge, which is one-half the normal domestic service charge, be reduced to one-sixth the domestic rate.

The chamber delegation consisted of H. Barnes, Cyril Wightman, John Melville, Henry Watson and Eric Day.

Mr. Melville submitted that the service charge on sprinklers meant: "The more we do to protect our property and the property around us, the more we have to pay."

PRIORITY USE

City engineer Cyril Jones answered that businesses installed sprinkler systems for private benefit, not public benefit, and that such firms were getting a priority use of water.

It was pointed out that automatic sprinkler systems extinguish about 70 per cent of the fires which occur in buildings where they are installed.

Mr. Barnes pointed out that insurance rates in Victoria were lower than they might be because so many businesses here had automatic sprinklers.

Ald. William Pinfold, committee chairman, said he realized this was to the city's advantage and thought more businesses should be encouraged to install sprinklers, but could not agree with the chamber's proposal to abolish the service charge.

ADDITIONAL REVENUE

City manager Cecil Wyatt explained service charges were provided for in a by-law introduced in 1939 but were never levied until this year, when it became clear additional revenue would have to be obtained from the water service.

He said if the service charges could not be collected, the entire water rate structure would have to be increased. Some members of the chamber delegation said: "That's the way it should be."

240 FEET UP, SIX SECONDS FLAT

John Collyer Wins Hill Climb

Dark, curly-headed John Collyer became Vancouver Island's champion motorcycle hill-climber Monday, when he edged out Newt Cameron in the final event of the Thanksgiving Day hillclimb staged by Victoria Motorcycle Club on Mount Douglas.

Collyer had his BSA stripped down to about 250 pounds, about half its original weight, and tuned up for maximum performance. His time up the steep, 240-foot course was six seconds flat. Cameron, winner of the championship for the last three years, took 6.2 seconds to come second, and Joe Hyde, a veteran competitor, placed third.

Hyde took possession of the Paul Girardau Memorial Cup in the main, non-championship event, and posted a new record, completing the difficult, up-hill ride in 5.9 seconds.

In this event, Cameron was second and Collyer third.

In the novice event, for 45 cubic inch machines, Wes Morhart was first; Joe Brown, second, and Roy Chester, third.

In the novice event for 74 cubic inch machines, Chuck Arnold was first; Al Duffus, second, and Ian Hjorslev, third.

A large crowd of spectators watched the holiday event.

ASK The TIMES

Q. — Curling stones being made in Ontario were mentioned in "Ask the Times" last week. How many curlers are there in Canada? F.T.M.

A.—It is estimated there are approximately 200,000 curlers in Canada. Between Victoria and the Ontario border there are about 400 clubs.

Q.—Will you please tell me the names of the men who have been knighted in Canada within the last two years? C.W.E.

A.—No one has been knighted in Canada in recent years. In 1919 the House of Commons memorialized the King, requesting him to refrain from conferring "any titles or titular distinctions" on Canadians. On Prime Minister Bennett's recommendation, Hon. L. P. Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, and Hon. J. M. Teller, Chief Justice of the Quebec Court of King's Bench, were knighted Jan. 1, 1934, the first since 1919. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, issued a strong protest. Again in 1935, on the Bennett government's recommendation, several were knighted, including Ernest C. MacMillan, Toronto musician. Since the Liberal Party returned to power at Ottawa no knighthoods have been conferred in Canada.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Wipe 'Em With This . . . It's a New Chemical Cloth

By PENNY SAVER

Those long-play records are tops! Nothing like them in my opinion . . . but they have one drawback. Ever noticed how the dust sticks to them? I never could figure out why so much more dust should cling to LPs than to ordinary speed records, but then, I don't profess to be a scientist. My job is to tell folks about new articles on sale in town (as long as they're reasonably priced), and today I found just the thing to shoo that clinging dust away!

My discovery is a moist blue cloth, impregnated with some chemical that will swish the dust off your records in a wink! You try dusting a record with an ordinary cloth and notice how the dust flies right back into the grooves, then you'll realize what a boon this cloth would be to record collectors. And, too, you'll notice after dusting with an ordinary cloth, if you hold the record near a cigarette ash that the ashes will fly to the record . . . some electrical attraction, I guess. But you just try it after using this chemical cloth! Those l'il ashes don't budge! Cloth must be kept in its plastic container to insure moistness . . . $2.10.

Picture autumn flowers spilling out of a cream and green porcelain horn of plenty! One of the most attractive floral arrangements I've seen were thus arranged. I was afraid the water would drip onto the table cloth, but after closer inspection I could see that it would be impossible. Price for the flower bowl that's proving to be so popular this harvest season is $3.95.

Plastic bed sets are invaluable to the invalid who enjoys his afternoon cup of tea with a bit of cake or a sandwich, yet has the derndest time balancing both in his half-sitting position. These sets, made in pastel colors, include a good-size cup with a saucer and small tray for food combined into one. No, silly, I don't mean that the cup is stuck to the saucer! Hope you've got the general idea now. Anyway, they cost 3.95 each.

Bride of Norman Kowalyk Carries Orchids and Roses

Lovely, fair-haired Olga Jeanette Leschuk entered First United Church on the arm of her father, Saturday evening, to become the bride of Norman Leo Kowalyk. Her gown of traditional white nylon net was hoop-skirted, clouding to full length and the strapless bodice of gold embroidered lace was covered with a matching jacket which featured a mandarin collar and lily-pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of bridal silk illusion net was held by a pearl-encrusted coronet and she carried a cascade of pink rosebuds centred with an orchid.

Rev. Moir A. J. Waters performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Leschuk, 2476 Prior Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kowalyk, 802 Hillside Avenue. The church was decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums and during the signing of the register, J. Almond sang "Because." Mrs. Roberto Wood played organ music.

Matron of honor, Mrs. F. Checko, wore a gown of mauve nylon net with bodice of brocaded satin. She carried a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums and wore a matching floral headdress.

Bridesmaids, Miss Sonia Slusarenko and Miss Joan Rodger, wore gowns of net fashioned with satin bodices and net jackets in blue and coral, respectively. Miss Slusarenko carried blue sprayed chrysanthemums and Miss Rodger carried coral sprayed chrysanthemums. In their hair they wore matching floral bandeaux.

Tiny Sandra Lee Checko was flower girl, wearing a frock of pink nylon marquisette trimmed with white nylon lace. She carried a basket of pink and white flowers and wore a matching floral hair bandeau.

Edward Kowalyk was best man for his brother and Leo Kozak and John Makowsky ushered guests to pews marked with clusters of chrysanthemums. The couple left the church flanked by a guard of honor from the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, of which the bride was a member.

Reception was held at the Golden Slipper Ballroom, where the couple stood beneath an archway of greenery to receive guests. They cut a three-tier wedding cake which was flanked by candles in silver holders. Guest tables were decorated with sprays of marigolds and chrysanthemums. Toasts were proposed by F. Checko and J. Molofy. Mother of the bride wore a dusty rose dress with gardenia corsage and mother of the groom wore a blue dress with corsage of rosebuds and a gardenia.

For traveling in the interior and northwest U.S., Mrs. Kowalyk donned a grey worsted suit, black velvet hat dotted with rhinestones, black accessories and white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Kowalyk will live at 2736 Fifth Street.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Human Traits Intensified With the Passing Years

The following is an excerpt from a letter which a reader sent me:

"'Mental Health' is a term which confronts us daily, yet no one has troubled to define it. What type of person would be considered mentally healthy? What are some of the pitfalls on the road to maturity? What can be taught that will help us?"

That is a big order. I certainly do not feel capable of answering it myself. However, I do have some ideas about it. In the first place, the emotionally mature person has an inner reserve which comes from the ability to see life in a scope larger than himself. While he never underestimates himself as an individual, or his importance in the scheme of things, he also senses the fact that his is not the only role. When he thinks of life as a whole he becomes a bit humble.

He is not sensative. He does not have petty little egos which must constantly be played up to. He is busy living vibrantly, well in focus with the forces of life. He is not afraid to say that he is wrong and to ask forgiveness, to admit his mistakes. He feels secure within himself. He is kind because he is concious of the problems of others. He finds life too exciting to glue his eyes to introspection, and to judge it only in terms of himself.

He is an outgoing person who is often imposed on but he is never a "doormat." He is not in a rut. His mind is open and he therefore adds new interests and friendships to his existence. He has somehow gained a dignity in his personal relationships which is warm but self respecting.

I have always thought, and there is some backing for it, that our natural characteristics become intensified as we grow older. Of course, physical disaster can make a big difference in any person. Usually, however, if one is sweet and understanding in youth, he will become more so as he matures and gains wisdom from experience.

If he was hard to live with in the first place, heaven help his family when he gets older. If he was generous in youth, he will not be a miser in age. If he was "tight" with money in younger years this tendency will increase. If he was selfish in youth he will be more so in age, because added to his natural temperament, will be the losses and readjustments and disabilities of later years.

From youth through middle age we are building our older age. It seems wise to check ourselves as we go along. Doctor George Lawton, distinguished consulting psychologist and marriage counselor in New York City, has allowed me to use in leaflet form a test he gives. It will help you discover if you are aging successfully. This scoring will point up any pitfalls you have unconsciously fallen into.

If you would like to have this test in order to grade yourself on how you are doing, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for, "Are You Aging Successfully?" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Florence M. Tickle, Petite Bride, Exchanges Vows With James Buchan

St. John's Anglican Church, decked with standard baskets of white chrysanthemums, was scene of a picturesque ceremony, Saturday evening, when Florence Margaret Tickle, daughter of Mr. C. M. Tickle, 1158 Bewdley Avenue, repeated wedding vows with James Denis Buchan, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Buchan, 3927 W. 34th Avenue, Vancouver. Canon George Biddle officiated and organ music was provided by Frederick Chubb.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a picture of petite charm in her imported gown of white bridal satin and Swiss lace, which fell gracefully into a full train. From a tiara of seed pearls her veil filmed to chapel length and she carried a cascading bouquet of red roses, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Maid of honor, Miss Mavis Jones, wore a gown of gold brocaded satin with full, gathered skirt, fitted bodice and matching headdress. Bridesmaids, Miss Betty Buchan, sister of the groom, and Miss Darlene Brinkworth, were gowned similarly in blue and orchid, respectively. All carried semi-cascade bouquets of chrysanthemums in tones to correspond with their gowns.

Miss Pam Mezger, flower girl, was dainty in her frock of pink satin brocade. She wore a flowered hair bandeau and carried a colonial bouquet to match.

Blair MacDonald was best man and ushers were Mid. John Harwood, RCN, and Mid. G. Van Sickle, RCN.

Reception was held at the Olde England Inn, where the bride's sister, Mrs. John Kirkendale, and the groom's mother received guests. Mrs. Kirkendale wore a cocktail-length dress of midnight blue iridescent taffeta with corsage of red roses, and Mrs. Buchan wore navy sheer over taffeta with corsage of pink rosebuds. J. Doe proposed the toast to the bride.

A three-tier wedding cake, topped with tiny cut glass vase of pink rosebuds embedded in pink tulle and flanked by silver candelabra was cut by the young couple.

Honeymoon is being spent at Yellow Point Lodge, Vancouver Island. For traveling, the bride donned a two-piece dress of pale blue with lace cuffs and pockets, blue-grey topcoat, British tan accessories and model hat of velour trimmed with copper sequins. She wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mr. and Mrs. Buchan will live at 1158 Bewdley Avenue.

Tickets for Christ Church Cathedral turkey dinner to be held October 22 will be on sale Wednesday and Saturday, Memorial Hall. Two sitings, 5.30 and 6.30 p.m.

Net and Satin Gown Worn By Edith-Jean Robbins

First Baptist Church was scene of a wedding, Saturday evening, when Edith-Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robbins, Elk Park Farm, Royal Oak, repeated vows with Raymond Gilbert Campbell, son of Mrs. Thora Johnson, 3259 Alder Street. Rev. G. R. Easter officiated.

Mr. Oliver Stout played organ music, and "Because" was sung by Mr. Reginald Stofer.

Coming up the aisle on her father's arm, the bride was charming in a gown of nylon net over gleaming satin with a lace peplum, the neckline outlined with pearls and sequins.

Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and brilliants, and she wore the groom's gift of a triple-strand pearl mother. Red roses and white chrysanthemums formed her cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Helen Allwell, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in dusty pink net and lace over taffeta. Her bouquet was of pink and white chrysanthemums and she had matching flowers in her hair. Bridesmaids Miss June Robbins, sister of the bride, and Miss Juanita Campbell, sister of the groom, were dressed alike in mauve net over taffeta with shirred bodices and tiered skirts. They had mauve flowers in their hair and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's little sister, Miss Patsy Robbins, was flower girl, in an apple green net over taffeta frock, the net yoke and tiered skirt trimmed with paddy green bows. She wore matching flowers in her hair, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Lionel Green was best man, while ushers were William Robbins, Jr., brother of the bride, and Aubrey Lemblett, uncle of the groom.

At the reception in the Orange Hall, guests were welcomed by the bride's mother, in a queen's blue gown, royal blue accessories, and pink carnation corsage, and the groom's mother, wearing navy blue with matching accessories, and white carnation corsage. The bride and groom stood under an arch of roses and greenery decorated with white wedding bells.

Yellow rosebuds decorated the wedding cake.

For traveling on honeymoon to Vancouver and the United States the bride chose a green knitted suit, grey cashmere coat, green accessories, and gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will live at Elk Lake.

AS WE LIVE

Older Woman Should Streamline, Get a Job

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Success in life is not limited to young people. Oldsters succeed in what they undertake too. Here is a letter from a woman whose family has tried to convince her she is too old to succeed:

Hurlock

(Q) "I am 54 years old and have raised my family of 12. Now I want to start a career. I have signed up for a hotel training course as I think I would like working where I would meet all sorts of people. I have let myself go because I do not have the money to see a doctor about my weight or to buy nice clothes. My children tell me I'm too old to start to work now, but all but my youngest child are married and I know I am going to be left without any kind of income unless I go back on welfare and I would just as soon not do that. Am I too old to start to work now?"

(A) Of course you are not too old to start to work now because you are not really "starting" in the sense that you are doing a kind of owrk that is new and different to you. The work you are planning to enter is merely a form of what you have done all these years.

You are very wise to take a course of training so as to become familiar with the different kinds of work in hotels and the best ways of approaching such jobs. You will soon tell where your experience and interest would mean the most to you and would prepare you for a really responsible position.

No matter how efficient and experienced, a woman is greatly handicapped in getting a job if her appearance is unattractive. You may have had to let your looks go while you raised your family but now is the time to give them some serious thought and attention. See a doctor about a reducing diet, adopt a hair style suited to your type and your age, then wear the modern business woman's conservative clothes.

You will be surprised at how much younger you will look when you give attention to your figure, clothes and grooming, and how much easier it will be to get a job than if you applied now. In work where you are thrown in with people—and that is the sort of work you want—looks and cheerfulness are often more important than efficiency.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Prison Riots Laid To Enforced Idleness

Canadian Policy of Paying Prisoners for Prison Work Lauded by Ontario Warden

TORONTO (CP)—A United States prison official today told a conference of American prison wardens that enforced idleness is a major cause of prison riots. Coincidentally, a Canadian warden told the same group Monday that the policy of paying prisoners for prison work had helped keep Canada's eight federal penitentiaries riot-free since 1932.

Richard A. McGee, a member of the American Prison Association's committee that investigated the recent wave of U.S. prison riots, said today that unless a prison had an agricultural or industrial program, about 40 per cent of the prisoners have no constructive work to do.

He said the opposition of pressure groups attempting to eliminate any kind of competition has resulted in restrictive legislation, both state and federal, which forces U.S. prisons to keep men in idleness while they deteriorate physically, mentally and morally.

CANADA'S POLICY DIFFERS

R. M. Allen, warden of Portsmouth penitentiary in Kingston, Ont., told the American Prison Soceity's 83rd congress of correction that Canada had been free of rots in federal prisons for 21 years because prisoners were paid for working and were fed in their cells instead of large dining halls.

He said some rigid controls were relaxed several years ago in Canadian prisons and the privileges still are a novelty.

Prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries carried their meals on trays from the kitchen to their cells.

The U.S. wardens questioned Mr. Allan about the policy of "every prisoner on the payroll" and the extent of political interference in jail administration.

FEW REPEATERS

"There is no political interference at all in the administration of penitentiaries, and except for one warden and one superintendent all our wards and superintendents have been in the service for more than 30 years," he told them.

Up to seven or eight years ago, Canada's penitentiaries were "pretty well punative." Since the institution of recreation, regular pay for prison work and a general relaxing of restriction, the percentage of repeaters had dropped from 43 to 39.

Mr. Allan told the congress that prisoners receive 10, 15 or 20 cents a day, depending on the grade they are assigned on the basis of their attitudes and co-operation with the jail staff and other prisoners.

Three cents of each day's pay must be set aside in compulsory savings. The balance may be spent for candy, tobacco and other extras from the prison canteen, including bread and sandwich spreads to give the prisoner a night snack in his cell. The money a prisoner is allowed to spend in the canteen must be earned from prison work.

Immigrant Charged In Cabbie Shooting

PORT ARTHUR (BUP)—William Leivo, 22-year-old Polish immigrant, will appear in Port Arthur court today charged with critically wounding a cab driver by shooting him five times in the stomach.

The victim, Paul Beitz, told police that Leivo got into his cab Friday night and told him to drive to Intola, Ont., eight miles from here. Beitz drove Leivo to his home and waited outside for the fare money. Leivo suddenly came out of the house and shot him with a revolver.

NATO BLOCKED RUSSIAN DRIVE —GRUENTHER

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Alfred Gruenther, commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces, declared Sunday he's still convinced that NATO has blocked any Soviet military aggression in Europe and that there won't be another world war.

Interviewed on the NBC television show "Meet the Press," Gruenther said he hasn't changed the optimistic hopes for peace he expressed when he succeeded Gen. Matthew Ridgway last July.

250,000 Catholics Pray for Red Conversion

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An estimated 250,000 Roman Catholics attended the first open-air evening mass in the history of the archdiocese Sunday night as part of a service for the conversion of Russia to Christianity from Communism.

The solemn pontifical mass was celebrated by the Most Rev. Joseph McShea, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, on a glass-enclosed 42-foot altar, centred in a huge spotlight. The Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, archbishop of the diocese, delivered the sermon.

Preceding the celebration of the mass, an estimated 80,000 members of the Holy Name Society marched through Philadelphia's streets to the scene of the service chanting the prayers of the Holy Rosary.

In all 1,170 priests of the arch-diocese took part; nearly all joining with the marchers, the others participating in assisting the archbishop celebrate the mass.

The Holy Name Society, sponsor of the rally, is composed of male Roman Catholics. Its purpose is to prevent whatever possibly blasphemy and vulgarity and to stress the man's role in family life.

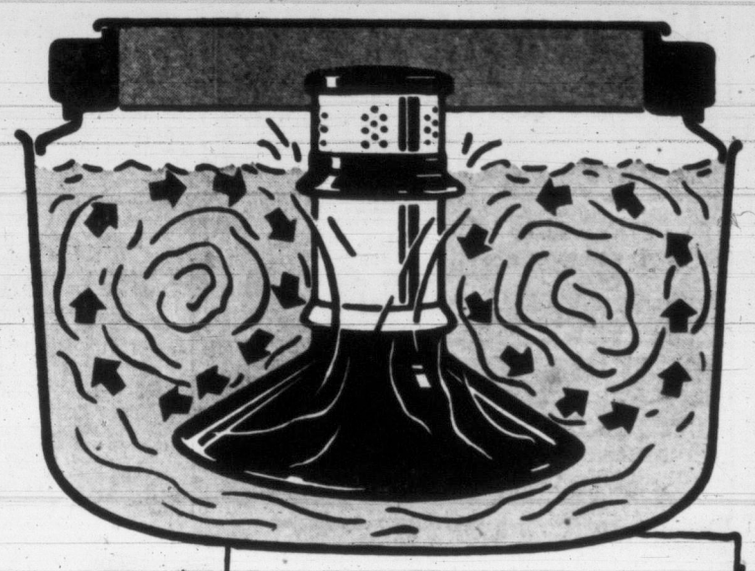
Live-Water Action

of the

FRIGIDAIRE

Automatic Washer

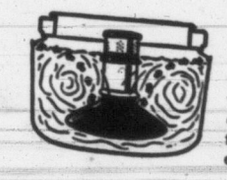
gets out dirt ordinary washers leave behind!



UNDERWATER SUDS DISTRIBUTOR!

Soap or detergent goes in the top, comes out at the bottom—under water — as active, cleansing suds. No undissolved soap can get into the wash. Cap serves as measuring device.

NEW FLOAT-OVER RINSE!

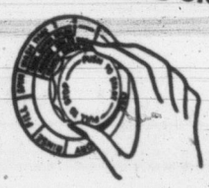


When washing time is over, fresh warm water flows in until it overflows. Clothes stay down under while soap, scum and dirty water float off the top and away throughout entire rinsing cycle.

EXCLUSIVE RAPIDRY SPIN!

Takes out far more water than any other method! Clothes are lighter to lift, easier to handle, faster to dry. Some are ready for immediate ironing.

SET DIAL ONLY ONCE!



Frigidaire's amazing Select-O-Dial controls entire washing, rinsing and spinning cycle—completely automatically. You can stop and start the washer—repeat or omit any operation—at any time.

LIFETIME PORCELAIN FINISH!

Here's the only automatic washer with cabinet and top finished in Lifetime Porcelain! It's stain-resistant, rust-proof, easy to keep clean and stays white, new-looking for life!

FRIGIDAIRE

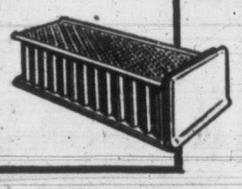
Filtra-matic Electric

DRYER

ends weather worries and heavy lifting!

Here's the way to bring sunshine indoors every day of the year. Wash any time you like and toss your clothes into a Frigidaire Electric Clothes Dryer—take them out minutes later—all soft and fluffy and sweet-smelling. You just select your drying time — bone dry for immediate storage, or damp dry for ironing. All-porcelain finish as protection against rust. Models available for either 220 or 120 volts.

Here's Frigidaire's Exclusive Filtrator



You need no flues, vents or pipes with a Frigidaire Filtra-matic Electric Dryer, so you can place it anywhere. Built in Filtrator keeps lint out of rooms, reduces moisture.

See why the Frigidaire Washer cleans cleaner, dries drier, than any other automatic washer!

No tumbler or agitator method can match Live-Water Action for really removing deep-down dirt. Lightning-fast up-and-down movement of the Pulsator sends hot, penetrating suds surging through clothes to flush out even the most deeply embedded grime. Clothes are never rubbed, yanked or abused — they're always under water, never half-in, half-out. New, continuous Float-Over Rinse takes over before the washing cycle is finished. Floats dirt and suds up, out, and away so they can't drain back through clothes. Rapidry Spin (fastest spinner in any washer) gets clothes drier, pounds lighter—many ready for immediate ironing. Then this wonderful washer cleans itself and shuts off!

Proof of all this awaits you at your Frigidaire Dealer's. See it now!

Totem Management Cuts Prices In Hope of Rallying New Support

Totem Theatre cut prices Monday but the theatre will have to draw bigger nightly audiences than the 247 it had Thanksgiving Day if it is to stay in business after the end of the week.

The theatre has been running into debt. Attendance has fallen off to a 100-a-night level. The reduction in admission prices is a last-ditch attempt to draw more patrons. Downstairs seats, which formerly sold from $1.25 to $2, are $1 for the rest of the week. Balcony seats, which were 75 cents, are selling now for 50 cents.

Sam Payne, who takes a leading part in the current play Antigone, made an appeal from the stage at the close of Monday night's performance.

He said the company has had talks with its creditors and is anxious to stay in Victoria and keep legitimate theatre here. But it needs support to the tune of $10,000 to keep it alive, either by better audiences or in direct aid.

"Our first two plays here were a big success at the box office," he said, "but since then attendance has fallen off. We like to play for you—it gives us happiness, but as you must know there are large expenses in running a theatre."

ONLY AMIABLE BUNGLER?

U.K. Paper Wonders if Ike To Be Worst President

LONDON (Reuters) — The mass-circulation Daily Mirror said Sunday President Eisenhower "may yet rank with Harding and Coolidge as one of the most disastrous presidents of the United States."

The paper's top columnist, Cassandra, asked: "Is he just an amiable bungler?"

"The White House has had some strange occupants, but this likeable and friendly man with his long record of co-operation with Europe may prove to be one of the most unfortunate holders of that great and famous office.

"The record of his first 250 days as president . . . is a mixture of hesitancy, expedience, golf, political vacuity, holiday-making and that misplaced and frightening bonhomme that people sometimes show when they are trying to please everybody everywhere at the same time.

"One explanation is that he is afraid to take control. The other is that he is just plain lazy, and it is this second theory that is arousing increasing comment here and in the United States."

8,000 ATTEND MRA MEETING AT CAUX

CAUX, Switzerland (AP)—The World Assembly of Moral Rearmament ended a four-month session here Sunday with a closing admonition from Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, the movement's founder, that "no man who harbors ill-will can solve the hates of nations."

"Absolute moral standards are the well-spring of inspired statesmanship," Dr. Buchman said in a statement. "We talk of peace and unity, but forget that no han who harbors ill-will can solve the hates of nations. We talk of divine guidance, but forget that it is the pure in heart who can see God."

Officials of the assembly said that more than 8,000 persons from 79 countries attended this year's meetings.

Australia to Ratify World Wheat Pact

CANBERRA (AP) — Commerce Minister John McEwen today introduced into the House of Representatives a bill for ratifying the International Wheat Agreement.

He said that in view of the heavy world wheat stocks, Australia's export quota of 48,000,000 bushels under the three-year agreement could prove important to the welfare of the country's wheat industry.

Secret Talks Start On U.S. Arms Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower called the National Security Council and the joint chiefs of staff into secret session at the White House today, apparently to begin hammering out decisions on next year's military spending budget.

SECRET COURT

BERLIN (Reuters) — The West Berlin anti-Communist Free Jurists Investigation Committee said Monday that six departmental chiefs of Zeiss, East Germany's largest optical works, have been sent to prison. A secret court at Gera, Thuringia, convicted them a week ago of "incitement to boycott" and "endangering peace," and sentenced them to terms ranging from eight years to 18 months, the organization said.

Student Council Shuts Doors Against College Reporters

By DINAH KERR
Times College Reporter

Reversing last year's verdict, the 1953-54 Victoria College Student Council will bar reporters from all future meetings, including representatives of the official student newspaper. Information will be given out by the director of publications and publicity.

Anthony Gambrill, Martlet editor, upholds the principles fought for last spring by his predecessor, Bill Broadley.

In the first of six Martlet issues, Gimbrill stated under the headline, "Rights of Press Are Denied," that "the Martlet stands firm in its demand to be able to report officially the meetings of the Students' Council as a service to the students. The Martlet accepts the obligations that a university newspaper is under, and, as an organ of publicity, recognizes its own duty to the students."

SUPPORTS COUNCIL

Grant McOrmond, last year's Martlet staff sponsor and new council staff adviser, supports the Student Council's action. He said the move was merely to prevent publicity detrimental to the college reaching the general public and to avoid unnecessary controversy between the college and the Provincial Normal School. The two institutions are housed in the same building.

At a meeting of the Alma Mater Society next Monday, council president Bill O'Brien will introduce an amendment to the constitution which would make the director of publications and publicity the editor-in-chief of all student publications.

The PUBS. director would also control press releases to Victoria papers.

Last spring, when the '52-53 council unanimously decided to allow a Martlet reporter at meetings, college president W. H. Hickman remarked, "As usual, the student body and council representatives have shown a lot of common sense."

Nelson Soldier Held on Kidnapping Charges Said Sane

JAMESTOWN, N.D. (CP) — Donald Blackwell Argyle, 31, a Canadian soldier from Nelson, B.C., charged with kidnapping a 33-year-old expectant mother, has been declared sane after three weeks of mental examination at a North Dakota state hospital.

The charge was laid against Argyle, who was stationed at Regina since early spring, after he allegedly hitched a ride with Mrs. Albert Geigle of Strasburg, N.D. A physician who later attended Mrs. Geigel said she had cuts on the hands and had been assaulted.

T. E. George of Jamestown, attorney for Argyle, who released the examination result, said hospital authorities indicated Argyle was a "borderline" case.

MYSTERY FIRE SWEEPS CLOSED ALBERTA MINE

BELLEVUE, Alta. (CP)— Investigators are probing the ruins of the Hillcrest-Mohawk coal mine in the Crow's Nest Pass where a mysterious fire caused an estimated $500,000 damage Sunday.

The fire destroyed the cleaning plant and mine tipple at the mine, closed 18 months ago. The loss was covered by insurance.

Company officials said "there is something mysterious" about the blaze. No fires had been kept burning at the mine after it was closed and all electricity had been cut off.

Bellevue is 70 miles west of Lethbridge.

Trustees to Ask Probe Of Teacher Shortage

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Alarmed by the increasing shortage of teachers, the B.C. School Trustees' Association proposes an appeal to the government for immediate remedial action.

A resolution to be presented at Tuesday's sessions states all districts are affected by the shortage of teachers and that the shortage will continue. Trustees fear they will be driven to emergency action that will jeopardize "the whole fabric of education."

The association's projected resolution asks the provincial government to set up a committee, representing all organizations and agencies directly concerned, to make recommendations to the winter session of the Legislature that will recruit "well trained, capable teachers" to adequately staff B.C. schools.

Watch These Points in Planting Spring Bulbs

There are several requirements to be met in order to produce flowers from bulbs indoors during winter.

Weight in relationship to size is important when selecting the bulbs, heavier bulbs giving the best flowers, and early-flowering varieties should be used. Containers may be ordinary clay flower pots of suitable sizes, or fancy bowls and dishes without drainage holes.

Hilda

Place a good layer of broken pot material and/or stones at the bottom of each container to assure drainage. The bulbs will rot before flowering if allowed to stand in saturated soil. In bowls having no drainage holes, add several pieces of charcoal to the usual coarse material. While this prevents the souring of the soil if saturated, it will not eliminate rotting of the bulb from gross overwatering.

The soil itself is not of great importance, though it is customary to use a good loamy mixture, lightened with coarse sand where necessary, to assist the drainage. Half a teaspoonful of bonemeal to each five-inch pot will aid bulb devolpment after flowering.

The necks, or tips, of narcissus bulbs should be a half-inch or so above soil level; tulip tips should just show above the soil; hyacinth tips are kept level with the soil.

Water the pots thoroughly, and let stand to drain excess moisture. The effectiveness of the drainage material can be checked at this time, and corrected if necessary.

Pots, or bowls, of narcissi and hyacinths should next be moved to a cold, dark place for a period from six to eight weeks. This may be a trench dug in the garden, a corner of the basement, or in a cupboard—always remembering the essential cold and dark needed to produce a good root system.

When stored anywhere but in a garden trench, more water will be needed during the rooting period. As soon as the roots show through the drainage hole, top growth will also be noted, and when this is two inches high the containers are gradually brought into light to harden the growth and green the tips. Following this, full sunlight, a temperature of 65 degrees, and sufficient moisture will bring the flower buds along in a couple of weeks.

Tulips require a longer period in darkness and should have their flower buds well up before bringing into daylight. All bulbs which are flowered in the house during winter require growing in the garden for two seasons before being forced again.

Man With Terrible Tongue Bosses Battle Against Nature in Kemano Wilds

By ED McLEAN
Times Business Editor

Ole Strandberg bosses the "miraclemen" at Kemano, where the rugged face of nature is being changed so Aluminum Company of Canada can "cook" 200 tons of aluminum every day at Kitimat smelter, 50 miles away.

Responsible for a handful of multi-million dollar projects, each historic in engineering, Ole is a free-wheeling, 40-ish veteran of some of this globe's biggest construction jobs. He's slow and quietly-spoken except when angry — then men who defy death in the mountain tunnel or on the frigidaire Kildala Pass transmission line cow under the lash of his torrent of short, sharp, unmistakable words.

In 1942 Ole helped build the underground facilities at Pearl Harbor that were part of the nerve centre of the war in the Pacific. Four years later at Okinawa he highballed a U.S. War Department job that's a legend among construction men. He was a key figure in the tremendous Grand Coulee irrigation project. And just before tackling Alcan's challenge he worked on a tremendous undertaking in French Morocco.

On the Kemano job Ole lopes from one emergency to the next. When he's not loping he's highballing a four-wheel drive jeep straight up a mountain or flying hither and yon, like an angry bee, in planes and helicopters. His ambition is to soak up the sun of Walkiki—and he's going there when the Kemano tunnel job is "packed up" this winter.

SON OF A LOGGER

Ole, self-educated son of an Oregon logger, began battling nature as a young engineer. Across the world he and his chief aides—Assistant Project Manager Russ Madsen, Area Engineer Ray Reed, Administrative Manager Herb Garibaldi, Camps Director Milo Marchetti and Tunnel Superintendent Whitey Davis—have fought nature to a standstill. They've done it again (or partially so) at Kemano—and already they're talking about the next go-round. By this time next year, they'll be at it again—perhaps in the Amazon, perhaps in the Arctic, perhaps in Saudi Arabia, perhaps on the Manitoba flood-control project, perhaps building West Coast's natural gas line from B.C. Peace River to the Northwestern U.S.

Ole and his "gang" are today's prophets of mechanization. Talk to him, at your peril, about horses—even though it is history that the firm for which he works, Morrison-Knudsen of Boise, Idaho, began its career back in 1912 excavating with horse-drawn scrapers. There are no horses at Kemano where Ole's 10,000-man army, scattered over a primordial wilderness as big as Belgium, consumes an oilfield of gasoline and lubricants every month.

But there are four horses at Kitimat, 50 air-miles away, where Ole's antithesis, Harold Whiting, is building the world's most modern aluminum smelter and this continent's best-planned city. The horses are used in logging operations in an almost impenetrable forest which only a year ago occupied the land to the very edge of Kitimat and Minette bays.

INDUSTRIAL AMALGAM

Kitimat Constructors Ltd. is an amalgam of eight of B.C.'s biggest construction firms — Dawson Wade & Co. Ltd., Marwell Construction Co. Ltd., Campbell-Bennett Ltd., Bennett & White Construction Co., General Construction Co. Ltd., Emil Anderson Construction Co. Ltd., B.C. Bridge & Dredging Co. Ltd., Dawson & Hall Ltd. The job was too big for any one of them, but it isn't too big for Harold Whiting and his "boys," nor for George T. Malby, Alcan's resident engineer at Kitimat.

Just one of a handful of great undertakings at Kitimat is an 800-foot long dock upon which millions are being spent and which will be the shipping and mechanical-loading marvel of this coast.

The dock's core contains three concrete blocks, 250x60x48 ft. These were built in a graving-dock constructed on the site, then sunk in place. But the ticklish task in the dock's construction was the smoothing of the bay's bed to create a level area measuring 250x60 feet and exactly 31 feet below water level. That was done by dumping thousands upon thousands of cubic yards of rock and gravel, then scraping the whole area perfectly level with clamshell-shovels pulled by tugs. The level was tested by sounding every square foot with a plumb-line. That 800-foot dock today has an error of less than two inches in one corner. That error will be rectified by adjustment of the framework of the conveyor-system structure.

PROBLEM OF SUPPLY

Not the least of the Kitimat-Kemano miracles are the housing, feeding and entertaining of the army of workmen who have wrought these wonders. They and their wives and their children are in a score of camps containing from 125 persons to 5,000. There's a settlement on a shelf half a mile up DuBose Mountain. There 1,600 men and a couple of hundred women and children make their homes, their only contact with "civilization" being an aerial tramway. In mile-high Kildala Camp 125 men live in specially-built weatherproof tents, their supplies and movie films (Hollywood's latest) being brought in by helicopter. The whirlybird usually makes air-drops.

If the helicopter must take out an injured man, it lands on a 16-foot square timbered table built on a nubbin of rock.

Kitimat and Kemano are good camps—despite considerable labor turnover. Much of this movement is traceable to contractor-union agreements which permit the men to draw free transportation to Vancouver at the end of 60 days on the job. A good many work two months, holiday at Vancouver at company expense, then hire-on again. There are others who stay on the job, drawing their free transportation in extra cheques.

DRAW BIG PAY

Some have stayed 14 consecutive months and made their piles, for sure. Pay cheques of skilled tradesmen, working under rugged conditions and against time, are fabulous. There are stories of blackjack games where one man has lost as much as $3,000. But there are more yarns about men (usually with their wives) who've stayed on the job for enough money to pay cash for a good house or farm and a new car.

The story of Alcan's B.C. project probably never will be told in words—it would sound too much like over-imaginative fiction. But it will be told by Kitimat, B.C.'s newest incorporated community. Today Kitimat is only a churned-up clearing in the forest. By this time next year it will be an ultra-modern little town, with railway connection and, perhaps, a road to Terrace. The road would be there today had the B.C. government accepted Alcan's offer to pay $60,000 toward the cost if construction were completed this year. That offer was withdrawn last week because there'd been no action by the B.C. public works department.

But the road to Terrace will come.

Within a year there'll be 5,000 people living at Kitimat. And within a decade there may be 50,000 — for what's being built there today is only one-sixth of what Alcan intends to construct if world markets for aluminum warrant.

And every person who in the future calls Kitimat home will be living proof that McNeely Dubose, Ole Strandberg, Harold Whiting and their battalions of workmen have builded well in spite of all the tremendous difficulties inherent in any project that changes the face of nature.

MAU MAU TERRORISM

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Col. Reginald Turner, 76, slashed with a panga knife while in bed in Nairobi September 27, has died in hospital. He is the 15th white Kenyan to be murdered by the Mau Mau this year.

SLANDERED SON

BOLZANO, Italy (Reuters)—Orsola Ossinger, 84, went to prison here Monday for two years for slandering her son. She caused his arrest by telling police that he had tried to poison her. Later, as he pined in jail for his fiance, Mrs. Ossinger admitted that she had only wanted to prevent his marriage.

MY TREASURE CHEST
—By Maurice Humber.
Oct. 1 to Oct. 16
A GENEROUS HEART is a HAPPY HEART
I've seen lots of things upon this earth,
I've had lots of joy, & moments of mirth;
I've had to work hard for very small pay,
There've been ups & downs along the way.
I've thot at times, I'd life by the tail,
Only to find, I was going to fail;
And fail I did, & now I know why,
I was thinking of self, for only ME, I did try.
I didn't much care, nor did I know,
How the "other guy" weathered a low belly blow;
I'd give a few bucks, forget his plight,
"To heck with him, 'cause I was alright";
I could never get filled with joyous zest,
And go all out, for the Community Chest.
'Tho I did one time, collect down town,
And no one ever, threw me a frown.
And then—one day, something happened to ME,
And I could, and was forced to see,
That the only R-E-A-L moments I remembered at all,
Were the very few times I HAD given my all;
Forgotten MY-SELF, & some candle lit,
And never let ANY-ONE . . . know about it.
I'm sorry now, that I was so blind,
Yet other moments I hope to find;
And I know you TOO, will be truly blest,
When you commune, & FEATHER SOME NEST.

BRIDGE LESSON

—By Oswald Jacoby

"You might like this hand," writes Paul M. Tummel, of University, Ala.

At all the tables except one, North or South played at three no-trump—down two. At one table, however, the bidding was as given in the accompanying hand.

"West made the excellent lead of a small spade. This was taken by the king, and the closed hand was entered with the queen of diamonds. South finessed the ten of clubs, and East held off.

"This was a nice trap, but South wasn't biting. He followed with the ace and a low club, putting East in with the king of clubs.

"West discarded the jack of hearts on the third round of clubs, so East shifted to a heart. West took the ace and returned a heart to the king. Now the defenders had three tricks, and East led a third round of hearts.

"South naturally played the queen of hearts, and West ruffed with the ten of spades. Dummy over-ruffed with the queen, and now it was South's turn to be a hero. He led the eight of spades from the dummy. East played low, and South finessed the nine of spades like a man. The rest was routine.

"The East-West pair moaned about being fixed because all the other North-South players were down at three no-trump. They were fixed, all right, but don't you think they brought it on themselves? If they hadn't made such fancy bids, their opponents would have wound up in three no-trump likewise. Right?"

Quite right. East didn't have the values for an overcall of one heart, and West didn't have the values for a free bid of two diamonds. When they made those interference bids, they knew that the effect might be to push North or South into an unusual contract.

Unfortunately for East and West, they pushed South away from an unmakable contract into one that he could make.

Incidentally, South was very clever to avoid the trap in clubs. If he assumes that the finesse is working, he will draw two more rounds of trumps and repeat the club finesse. Thereupon, East will take the king of clubs and lead a heart to grab three heart tricks!

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — There are many tasks that need your attention at home concerning credit, patriotic interests, etc. Though there is nothing glamorous about them it would be wise to finish them. Have fun later.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Use this midweek day to add to your knowledge of current ways; there is much that is happening all at once, that you will lose out unless you acquaint yourself with modern trends.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You like to dash in all directions, to adventure into new fields, but unless you have enough cash to do so it would be wise to complete your duties to others today. Success follows work.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — There is need for better understanding with serious minded colleagues who do not understand your dramatic sensitivity. Spend much of the day in showing interest in their desires.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) —Let nothing stand in the way of budgeting your time so you can complete all duties connected with food supplies, furnishings, wardrobe, garden, pets and transportation.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) — Take a good look in the mirror to see how you can enhance your good looks and charm. You will enjoy your hobbies more if you itemize all the necessary details; then pitch in and do what needs doing.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Happy birthday. Seek out loved ones at home to find out how you can improve present situations. Be practical; repair worn out appliances, gadgets, plumbing, etc.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) — Intense activity on transportation, correspondence, conferences, communications, bolsters your fundamental relationship with your comrades and puts you on top for the future.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) — Your high-flown ideas are great and necessary as background, but right now you have to get down to actual cash needed to repair property, pay bills, etc. Devise sensible budget.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—You are pretty much concerned with yourself and just where you are heading. Make long range plans, for you have a good chance of receiving valuable aid from powerful person.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Behind the scenes investigation, research, conversations with friends yield returns in uncovering new facets by which you can have more real, well earned success. Keep plugging!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Sound advice from well meaning friends should be accepted at face value. Replace your natural procrastination with swift action right now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .

Wednesday's child will be a practical, down-to-earth youngster who, you may feel, is unsympathetic until you realize that he or she, instead of deploring adverse conditions will sensibly but quietly do something about them. It would be wise therefore to give your child practical business training, for in this work success can be quickly attained at quite an early age. Encourage your offspring often with praise and affection.

SAGA OF ESCAPE

Pole Flees Russia To Liberty in Iran

BY W. A. RYSER
UP Staff Correspondent

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—Radio Free Europe has released the story of a man who escaped from a Soviet slave labor camp deep inside Russia.

His arrival here was made possible by a combination of luck, courage and tenacity which enabled him to make his way from his place of detention in central Siberia to the Persian border.

Henryk Zaborski, 26, was caught by Soviet frontier guards in 1948 while he was trying to cross the river Bug, the present Polish-Soviet frontier, to enter Soviet territory. At that time he was a member of an anti-Soviet Polish partisan unit.

That was the beginning of his long travels across Russia, which took him from the European part of the U.S.S.R. to the river Yenissey in Siberia and then, through Soviet central Asia, to Teheran.

After his arrest, Zaborski was kept for several months in a MGB (ministry of state security) prison in Bresc (Brest-Litovsk) and was then sentenced to three years penal servitude for "illegal crossing of the frontier."

IN LABOR CAMP FIRST

Together with a large group of political prisoners, he was then deported to a labor camp near Potma, 400 kilometers southeast of Moscow. Here he served his sentence together with 35,000 other political prisoners.

After serving his term, Zaborski was moved to a slave labor camp in central Siberia, Krasnoyarsk district, near the river Tassey, a tributary of the Yenissey. There he lived and worked in the most primitive conditions, felling trees with thousands of his fellow prisoners.

From the first moment, the young Pole started planning his escape. The slave labor camps in central and northern Siberia are, like all Soviet camps, guarded by units of the MVD (the ministry of the interior special troops). But the chief obstacle to would-be escapees from the camps is the inpenetrable Taiga, the swampy and treacherous Siberian forest extending for thousands of miles.

Escapes from Siberian camps are rare and only a few are known to have been successful.

One day Zaborski escaped from his guards while working in the forest near the camp, plunged into the Taiga and made his way through the wilderness to Krasnoyarsk — 300 kilometers away. That was four months after he arrived at the camp.

TRAVELS BY TRAIN

He had about 400 roubles and was able to continue his journey south by train, after having bought a ticket on the black market.

Traveling legally and illegally, he covered a distance of 6,000 kilometers by train before he reached the town of Ashkhabad near the Persian frontier. He went through Novosibirsk, Alma-Ata and Tashkent.

Zaborski's most fantastic adventures began after he reached Shkhabad, situated in the Soviet frontier zone, and subject to stringent control regulations. Dozens of times he had to strain his ingenuity to escape arrest in the endless controls, organized by the Russian secret police in all localities, railway stations and trains of the frontier zone.

Finally, he managed to reach a spot near the Persian border from which he was to make his final bid for freedom.

The frontier at that point consisted of a wide strip of freshly plowed earth enclosed in barbed wire. While he was making his way through this no man's land by night, Zaborski walked backwards, so that his footsteps would point in the direction of Soviet territory, and not away from it.

In spite of this, the Soviet frontier guards spotted him and for three days he had to hide in the mountains which form the border between Persia and the Soviet Union.

After crossing this last obstacle, sometime early in 1952, Zaborski was arrested by the Persian police and kept in jail for about a year.

For the last few months he has been recovering from his harrowing adventures in the Soviet Union.

'Liberated' Tibet Feels Lack of Food

KALIMPONG, India (UP) — The food situation in Tibet is reported to be getting worse with food hard to get and prices rising.

Barley, the staple food of Tibet, sells at six times the price before the Chinese Communists took control. Meat, butter and other foods also have become very expensive.

The insufficient supplies and high prices are blamed on the presence of 30,000 Chinese "liberation" troops who are living off the land. Their presence is causing discontent, expressed in some places by popular demonstrations.

Posters on village walls demand the withdrawal of these troops and demand food at prices the people can afford. There has been a growth in crime because of the scarcity of food.

SUPPLIES RATIONED

Chinese authorities in Tibet are taking steps to combat this dangerous situation. Surplus food stocks in the hands of private dealers and cultivators were requisitioned and rationing was introduced. But this policy failed because the quantity of food procured was not enough.

The government, therefore, decided to keep part of what it procured for an emergency and distributed the remainder in areas where food is not available.

A proposal to fly food to Tibet from China was dropped as impracticable. Nor can food be brought overland as the road from Lhasa to China is unfinished. Chinese rice which reached Tibet by way of India recently has been mainly reserved for the Red troops while a small quantity was distributed to relieve distress among the Tibetans.

To sustain the spirits of the Tibetans, the Chinese have promised that nobody will be permitted to starve to death. The government has announced the arrival soon of another big consignment of Chinese rice by way of India.

In the meantime, the government is appealing to the Tibetans to work on projects for national development. The daily wage offered for each worker is equivalent to one dollar. In addition, food is available to project workers at government shops at a concession.

The "cultural wing" of the Red army vigorously extols the "dignity of labor" to induce the Tibetans, most of whom are unused to manual labor, to volunteer in sufficient numbers to man these projects.

Large numbers of lamas (Buddhist priests) are said to be working on them. This is not due to the persuasion of the "culture squads," nor to the lamas' love of Communism. These men used to depend on gifts of food for their subsistence, but such gifts are no longer forthcoming. They must therefore work or starve.

WANLIP, England (CP)—Ivory tusks of a mammoth lead for thousands of years were recovered from a gravel pit in this Leicestershire district.

Does Inco produce anything but Nickel?

"Oh yes, the Sudbury nickel ore contains as much copper as it does nickel! So Inco is not only the world's largest producer of nickel, but also Canada's largest producer of copper."

"The research people also found that the ore contained other rare metals. Step by step the scientists worked out ways of getting these metals out of the ore. So today Inco recovers quite a lot of gold, silver, platinum, palladium and other metals from the ore. In fact, Canada has become the world's largest producer of the platinum metals. The palladium obtained from the nickel ore is today very popular for fine jewelry."

"The Romance of Nickel" a 72 page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

25-Week Seattle Trial Convicts Five Communists

SEATTLE (AP) — Five admitted Pacific Northwest Communist leaders were convicted by a Federal Court jury Saturday of conspiring against the government, but the sixth defendant in the 25-week trial, Karly Larsen, was acquitted.

The jury of six men and six women returned its verdict nearly 28 hours after being given the case. Actual deliberations occupied less than 11 hours. Judge William J. Lindberg set next Friday for sentencing.

Larsen's acquittal was the first by a jury since the justice department began its drive against first and second-string Communist functionaries five years ago.

In February, 1914, he became prime minister.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Californians Search For Lost B.C. Woman

WILLITS, Calif. (AP)—A 400-man posse searched the hills near this lumbering town Monday for Mrs. Eva Mansfield, 51-year-old Chase, B.C., woman who vanished from a trailer court last Friday.

(Chase is 36 miles east of Kamloops.)

Her husband, Walter Mansfield, reported to the sheriff's office that the couple was visiting friends at the court when Mrs. Mansfield excused herself "for a moment." He said she hasn't been seen or heard from since.

Mexican Confesses Shooting U.S. Point Four Official

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP) — A young Mexican has confessed killing Dr. Ralph B. Swain, a U.S. Point Four official from southern Illinois, police announced Saturday.

The finding of two more bodies led to speculation that two members of a bandit gang had been killed to keep them from talking.

Manuel Bernal Flandes, chief of detectives of Puebla State, said Homobono Ologarria, 27-year-old farmer, signed a confession in which he admitted shooting Dr. Swain a week ago during a holdup attempt on the Pan-American Highway, 150 miles south of Mexico City.

Ologarria said he shot Swain when the latter reached for his hip pocket to give four bandits the money they demanded. The young farmer said he thought Swain was reaching for a gun.

Two other men have been arrested in the case, and one of them, Aurelio Moctezuma Soriano, a cousin of Ologarria, confessed taking part in the holdup.

Soriano's confession, police said, agreed with Ologarria's as to who fired the fatal shot, but Soriano said he took part in the holdup unwillingly. He said he was forced to do so by two men he did not know.

Police are speculating that these two were the men whose bodies were found under a bridge near the scene of the crime.

PRINCE PHILIP . . . coming back.

PHILIP TO VISIT VICTORIA AGAIN

Prince Coming Here; Hopes to Explore B.C.; See Kitimat, Uranium Mines in Northland

Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, who so captivated Victorians during the Royal tour of 1951, is coming back to Victoria.

Buckingham Palace announced this city will be visited by the Queen's husband when he comes out to attend the British Empire games in Vancouver next August.

Mayor Claude Harrison said today the city will welcome the Duke of Edinburgh with fitting ceremony "and with the warmest pleasure" when he returns here.

The Buckingham Palace announcement said that "the first gentleman of the United Kingdom" will go to Victoria, Vancouver and Kitimat. He has expressed a desire to see something of the immense aluminum industry's development in B.C.

"When Prince Philip and Her Majesty were here before," Mayor Harrison said, "they endeared themselves to our people as few great personages of the world have done in the past, royalty or otherwise."

TENDER MEMORIES

"I can imagine Prince Philip and his Queen have a tender feeling for this island where they spent a brief time of leisure at the western-most end of their transcontinental tour," he said.

Details of Prince Philip's itinerary are expected within a few days. His secretary, Lt.-Cmdr. Michael Parker, RN, is in Canada making the arrangements. The two naval officers are firm friends and Cmdr. Parker was with the royal party on the previous Canadian visit.

It is expected Cdr. Parker will be one of the Duke's party here next summer. Squadron Leader Peter Horsley, RAF, may be another.

London papers say the Duke may fly to Canada and take plane into the far north areas which he has yet to visit.

NEW STYLE TOURS

The Canadian visit is regarded in London as the first of a series of "new style" royal tours by which the Royal Family will take advantage of air travel to see more of the Commonwealth than was possible in the past because of the time involved.

B.C. Holiday Accidents Kill Seven

Seven persons were known to have met violent death in British Columbia during the holiday week-end.

Herbert Klint, 26, Toronto steel worker, was killed instantly late Sunday when he fell 125 feet from a giant tower on the Kildala Pass transmission line.

Joseph Shearer, 27, 1140 Pender St., Vancouver, died in General Hospital from injuries received when his car crashed into a stanchion of Vancouver's new Granville Street bridge.

David Portingell, 13, Quesnel, was killed when a truck driven by a Vancouver man struck him as he was hurrying to get off a narrow bridge near the northern interior town.

MAN GASSED

Thomas McDermott died in a Vancouver rooming house from accidental gas poisoning when his coffee pot boiled over and extinguished the burner.

An unidentified man was believed to have drowned in Harrison Bay.

Donald C. Ferguson was fatally injured when struck by a CPR train near Kamloops Friday night.

David Charles Robson, 17, died of gunshot wounds in a hunting accident near Parksville. (See story, page 17.)

Killed by Tree Limb

CHILLIWACK (BUP)—Maynard Elston Coulter, 49, principal of the Rosedale School here, died Monday when struck by a limb from a tree he was trimming.

Gun-Whipping Gang at Large, Merchants Told

Don't Stay Alone, Police Warning

A warning to city merchants not to remain alone in their shops during early-darkening evenings was issued today by Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer.

The advice was coupled with the news that two dangerous armed bandits are still at large, following a brutal armed robbery of Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Prior Street, Saturday night, when manager Ed Hillier was pistol-whipped.

He was left, bound and semi-conscious, in a pool of his own blood, while the thieves escaped with $1,050, shortly after 6.30 p.m.

MASKED

Masked with bandana handkerchiefs, wearing gloves and dark clothing, the pair disappeared into the night.

"If either one were stood before me today, I couldn't identify him," said the still-shaken victim. ". . . I think they were about 20."

Careful planning and a coincidence aided in the success of the robbery, he added.

"Usually, the bookkeeper, R. H. Lott, leaves with me. But on Saturday he went out the door just as the telephone rang and I was delayed. He told me later that he had noticed someone entering the alley from an adjoining property, but had placed no importance on it at the time.

GUN IN RIBS

"They knew I would leave by the alley entrance and as I opened the door one of them jabbed a gun in my ribs," he stated.

Struggling with his assailant, Mr. Hallier managed to gain possession of the weapon, which he identified as a toy. The second thug began to bludgeon Mr. Hallier over the head but he was able to throw the toy gun over a fence.

It has not been found.

The thugs wrestled the manager back into the office.

Mr. Hallier at first refused the demand that he open the safe.

"I was hollering, hoping they would think one of the boys was upstairs, but this punk kept beating me over the head with his pistol . . . a real pistol," he said.

MISSED COMBINATION

"Even when I said I would open the safe, they still hit me. They thought I was stalling when I missed the combination the first time," he recalled.

In possession of the day's receipts, the robbers bound Mr. Hallier's hands with electrician's tape, but, either in their haste or because they thought their victim weaker than he was, they did not gag him or tie his feet.

He was able to remove the tape after 10 minutes' struggling and tell the telephone operator to call police.

The intruders made a clean getaway. The dark alley behind the bakery is T-shaped and each branch afforded an easy escape route to a probable waiting car.

The hold-up was the second in the bakery this year. In February safecrackers made an unsuccessful attempt. They were foiled when an employee entered to turn on ovens, and they fled empty-handed after hanging canvas drapes over the windows.

Police all over the Island have been alerted. Deputy-chief Mercer says: "They may strike again."

"Storekeepers should take extra precautions during winter and fall evenings if still in their business premises after dark. Two men should stay," he added.

Guiana Capital Tense As Arson Plots Feared

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UP)—Anti-British laborers were reported buying large quantities of kerosene today and officials feared they may set fire to this colonial capital's wooden structures in protest against ouster of the pro-Red government.

British troops and security police cordoned off sections of the tense city to search for evidence of Communist activity and arson plots by supporters of ousted pro-Communist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and his American-born wife.

Jagan has called for a general strike in this sugar and rum producing South American British colony in protest against the arrival of British troops.

OUTSTANDING NATIVE DAUGHTER

Political Friends, Foes Mourn Passing of Mrs. Tilly Rolston

Tributes from her political friends and foes alike today were paid to Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston who died of cancer Monday night in Vancouver after a lingering illness. (See Story, Page 2).

HON. TILLY ROLSTON . . . died Monday.

They mourned the loss of a woman who they described as a staunch campaigner, a great fighter, and an outstanding native daughter whose place in the province's history is assured.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett was visibly shocked by the death of Mrs. Rolston. They had been campaign partners and had fought the province's political battles side by side.

The two of them are credited with personally leading the Social Credit party to victory in 1952 in one of the most stunning political upsets in the province's history.

Plans are being made to recess the Legislature on the day of Mrs. Rolston's funeral. The date hasn't been set yet.

If the funeral is in the morning or afternoon, it is expected the House will sit only at night. This will allow government representatives time to attend the funeral and return to the capital at night.

Prorogation is expected Friday, and the government will call three sittings a day towards the end of the week in order to finish up a considerable amount of work still before the legislators.

Premier Bennett said Mrs. Rolston's passing would be a great loss to the government.

He pointed out she was the first fully fledged woman cabinet minister in Canada.

"She was an outstanding native daughterof our province. Her life has been one of service.

"After she had raised her own family she gave unsparingly of her time and energy to advancing in public all that was best for protection of home and family life.

"Mrs. Rolston has been very ill for over a year and the way she has carried on has been a great inspiration to all," said Premier Bennett.

CCF leader Arnold Webster said:

"B.C. will long remember the ready smile and friendly greeting of Mrs. Rolston. She was a vital part of the community.

"Her enthusiasm for life and her spirited advocacy of causes in which she believed affected all with whom she worked.

"To have occupied the very responsible position of minister of education was a well-earned tribute to one who has spent so many years in active public service.

"The sympathy of everyone is extended to her many friends and, especially, to the members of her family."

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said Mrs. Rolston made a great contribution to the city of Vancouver and the province as a whole.

"Her passing removes a great trooper from the B.C. political scene. She had great courage and was in there scrapping until the end.

Dr. Larry Giovando, lone Progressive Conservative member of the House, said:

"Mrs. Rolston was a great campaigner and had the courage of her convictions. She did much for the housewife, and made a great contribution to women's realm."

News of the passing of Mrs. Rolston brought tribute today from Mrs. Nancy Hodges, who shared with her since 1941 the responsibility of representing the women of the provinde in the Legislature.

"I deeply regret her passing and know the province has suffered a tremendous loss.

"She brought an enthusiasm and zest to the affairs of the house which brightened the debates and made an important contribution to the parliamentary life of this province.

"I extend warmest sympathy to her family, knowing full well the great depth of her feeling for her home and loved ones."

Couple Laid Murder Plans Before Kidnapping Carried Out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Carl Austin Hall, a sullen drug addict, and his unkempt woman friend have confessed they prepared to kill Bobby Greenlease before they kidnapped the six-year-old child.

Hall admitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation he killed the boy by firing a pistol bullet into the right side of his head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas State line from Kansas City a short time after Bobby's kidnapping.

Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, confessed she was with Hall when he killed the boy, son of multi-millionaire parents who paid a record $600,000 in ransom.

With the couple's signed confessions that the child was taken across a state line, the government immediately filed charges at Kansas City under the Lindbergh kidnapping law.

DEATH PENALTY

The Lindbergh law, which stemmed from the kidnap-slaying of the famous aviator's son 21 years ago, carries a possible death penalty when the kidnap victim is harmed.

The FBI said Hall and Mrs. Heady confessed they dug the grave before they put their kidnap plot into execution.

Confronted with a mounting pile of unanswerable evidence, Hall and his divorcee companion made their new confessions to Joseph E. Thornton, agent in charge of the FBI here, and agents working under him.

Bobby apparently was put to death in the station wagon of Mrs. Heady after the couple had driven him to a point about 1½ miles from U.S. Highway 69 in Kansas 12 miles outside Kansas City, Mo.

The confessions Monday cleared Thomas John Marsh, 37, tattooed ex-convict named earlier by Hall as the actual killer of Bobby, of any part in the crime.

WIPES OUT CLAIMS

The admissions also wiped out the woman's earlier claim she was merely an innocent pawn in the case when she led the unsuspecting child from an exclusive Catholic school Sept. 28 on the pretext she was his aunt. She insisted she thought the boy was Hall's son, in custody of an ex-wife.

The confessed kidnap-killers of Bobby Greenlease were returned early today under heavy guard to Kansas City, where the abduction of the six-year-old boy took place just 15 days ago.

The pair's departure from St. Louis was kept secret. They were brought here by automobile, both manacled.

Yugoslavs Call Envoy As Rioting Continues

BELGRADE (AP)—French Ambassador Philippe Boudet was called into conference today with Yugoslavia's deputy foreign secretary as speculation arose that France might be asked to serve as an intermediary to prevent the feud between Yugoslavia and Italy over Trieste from developing into bloodshed.

They met for more than an hour. There was no immediate official disclosure of the nature of their talks, but the official Belgrade radio reported it "understood" they dealt with Trieste.

BELGRADE (AP)—A tense and angry Yugoslavia today awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy. Washington, at least so far, showed no signs of backing down from the British-American decision to pull out of Zone A of the strategic territory.

The Russians put in their oar Monday night, on the heels of Tito's bid for direct talks with the Western powers over the explosive issue and his complaint to the United Nations that the Anglo-American plans are a threat to peace.

In identical notes to Britain and the U.S., the Kremlin called the plan to give Italy the Allied-occupied zone, including the Adriatic port city of Trieste, a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty.

The predominantly-Italian population of Zone A was obviously worried, however, over Tito's threat Sunday to send his own troops into the zone if Italian troops replace the 7,000 British and American soldiers. Observers on all sides agreed such a move could touch off a world war.

Mobs Wreck British Reading Rooms

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Yugoslav demonstrators besieged the United States and British information centres for three hours today and wrecked the British reading room after breaking into it through locked doors.

British authorities protested strongly to the foreign office and demanded police protection.

Earlier in the day, mobs chased an American student into the United States information service office and beat up Yugoslavs who tried to get copies of the daily American news bulletins.

Tempers were growing hotter in the crowds that surged through the streets for the sixth straight day protesting against the Anglo-American decision to turn over the northern part of Trieste to Italy.

London Meeting for Big Three

LONDON (Reuters)—The foreign office announced today that Britain has invited U.S. State Secretary Dulles and Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, to meet Foreign Secretary Eden in London this week-end.

The statement said Dulles and Bidault had accepted the invitation and will meet Eden here for a conference Friday and Saturday.

The announcement came as a surprise in diplomatic circles where no hint had been heard that such a meeting was planned in the immediate future.

The foreign office announcement said:

"This meeting is in keeping with the practice of the three ministers to consult together at frequent intervals in one of the three capitals.

Russia Demands Full UN Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Russia set the stage today for a full United Nations debate on the ominous Trieste dispute by demanding a prompt Security Council meeting to name a governor for the area.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a letter to Council President William Borberg of Denmark, introduced a formal desolution which proposed that the council name Col. Hermann Flueckiger, former Swiss minister to Moscow, as governor of the free territory of Trieste in accord with Italian Peace Treaty provisions that the area be internationalized and charged that the Anglo-American decision to hand over Zone A to Italy "is having the effect of increasing friction in relations between states, and primarily between the countries bordering on the territory of Trieste, and is creating a threat to peace and security in this region of Europe."

IWA Scores New Tax

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's new 10-per-cent tax on lumber and mining profits over $25,000 came under criticism today at the annual convention of the International Woodworkers of America CIO.

The new tax bill, sponsored by the Social Credit government, was adopted "in principle" by the Legislature last week. It now awaits final reading.

Spy Plot Suspected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles Wilson hinted today that an army's investigation of Ft. Monmouth is turning up indications of a spy plot. He said "it looks like it might be worse than just a security leak."

Almost simultaneously with Wilson's discussion of Ft. Monmouth at a press conference, there was an announcement from the interior department that it has suspended six employees for "security reasons."

Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, who so captivated Victorians during the Royal tour of 1951, is coming back to Victoria.

Buckingham Palace announced this city will be visited by the Queen's husband when he comes out to open the British Empire games in Vancouver next August.

Mayor Claude Harrison said today the city will welcome the Duke of Edinburgh with fitting ceremony "and with the warmest pleasure" when he returns here.

The Buckingham Palace announcement said that "the first gentleman of the United Kingdom" will go to Victoria, Vancouver and Kitimat. He has expressed a desire to see something of the immense aluminum industry's development in B.C.

"When Prince Philip and Her Majesty were here before, "Mayor Harrison said, "they endeared themselves to our people as few great personages of the world have done in the past, royalty or otherwise."

Wismer, Kenney Called To Timber Sale Probe

Former attorney-general Gordon S. Wismer and former lands and forests minister E. T. Kenney will be called to testify as soon as possible before the Legislature's forestry committee.

The committee is investigating the sale of timber on Salt Spring Island's Mount Bruce Park by the Mt. Maxwell Park Board.

The committee decided to call the ex-cabinet ministers on a motion by Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince Rupert).

Mr. Wismer and Mr. Kenney were members of the Coalition government in 1951 when the timber sale took place.

The committee is trying to establish whether the Mt. Maxwell Board had authority to sell the timber in Mount Bruce Park.

ANTI-NATO PARTIES HIT HARD IN NORWAY POLL

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Western Europe's only majority Socialist government was returned to power today insuring continued co-operation of the northernmost partner of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The once-powerful Liberals and the Communists, the only parties to criticize the pro-NATO foreign policy of the Labor government of Prime Minister Oscar Torp, suffered a resounding defeat in yesterday's general election.

Nearly complete returns showed the mildly Socialist Labor government would have a clear majority in the Storting (Parliament), for the next four years.

Latest returns gave the Laborites 588,505 of the 1,245,070 votes counted.

HALL ADMITS KILLING

Boy's Death Planned Before Kidnapping

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Carl Austin Hall, a sullen drug addict, and his unkempt woman friend have confessed they prepared to kill Bobby Greenlease before they kidnapped the six-year-old child.

Hall admitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation he killed the boy by firing a pistol bullet into the right side of his head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas State line from Kansas City a short time after Bobby's kidnapping.

Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, confessed she was with Hall when he killed the boy, son of multi-millionaire parents who paid a record $600,000 in ransom.

With the couple's signed confessions that the child was taken across a state line, the government immediately filed charges at Kansas City under the Lindbergh kidnapping law.

DEATH PENALTY

The Lindbergh law, which stemmed from the kidnap-slaying of the famous aviator's son 21 years ago, carries a possible death penalty when the kidnap victim is harmed.

The FBI said Hall and Mrs. Heady confessed they dug the grave before they put their kidnap plot into execution.

Confronted with a mounting pile of unanswerable evidence, Hall and his divorcee companion made their new confessions to Joseph E. Thornton, agent in charge of the FBI here, and agents working under him.

Bobby apparently was put to death in the station wagon of Mrs. Heady after the couple had driven him to a point about 1½ miles from U.S. Highway 69 in Kansas 12 miles outside Kansas City, Mo.

The confessions Monday cleared Thomas John Marsh, 37, tattoed ex-convict named earlier by Hall as the actual killer of Bobby, of any part in the crime.

OUTSTANDING NATIVE DAUGHTER

Political Friends, Foes Mourn Passing of Mrs. Tilly Rolston

Tributes from her political friends and foes alike today were paid to Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston who died of cancer Monday night in Vancouver after a lingering illness.

They mourned the loss of a woman whom they described as a staunch campaigner, a great fighter, and an outstanding native daughter whose place in the province's history is assured.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett was visibly shocked by the death of Mrs. Rolston. They had been campaign partners and had fought the province's political battles side by side.

The two of them are credited with personally leading the Social Credit party to victory in 1952 in one of the most stunning political upsets in the province's history.

HON. TILLY ROLSTON
. . . died Monday.

Plans are being made to recess the Legislature on the day of Mrs. Rolston's funeral. The date hasn't been set yet.

If the funeral is in the morning or afternoon; it is expected the House will sit only at night. This will allow government representatives time to attend the funeral and return to the capital at night.

Prorogation is expected Friday, and the government will call three sittings a day towards the end of the week in order to finish up a considerable amount of work still before the legislators.

Premier Bennett said Mrs. Rolston's passing would be a great loss to the government.

He pointed out she was the first fully fledged woman cabinet minister in Canada.

"She was an outstanding native daughter of our province. Her life has been one of service.

"After she had raised her own family she gave unsparingly of her time and energy to advancing in public all that was best
